NEGOTIATIONS NOT HALTED BY BRITISH

Adjustment of French Debt To U. S. Will Continue, Officials Declare

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Discussion of the international debt broke out in the United States Senate this afternoon over the announcement by Winston Churchill, British chancellor, that Great Britain would demand proportionate debt settlement with France if France pays the United States.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, criticized Great Britain, asserting that she had been given easier terms in adjusting her debt to the United States than had been stipulated when the money was borrowed during the war.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Great Britain's salutary notice to France that any settlement of the French debt to the United States must be accompanied by a similar and simultaneous settlement with Great Britain, will have no effect in halting the present negotiations between Paris and Washington over the adjustment of the French debt to this government, it was stated today in official quarters.

Officials who are handling the negotiations declared that the French debt to Great Britain is strictly an Anglo-French affair, just as the French debt to the United States is a Franco-American affair and this government has no intentions of considering the two matters as in any way related.

While the foregoing represents the attitude of the Coolidge administration toward the situation in general, it was clearly recognized and admitted by officials privately today that the British outburst against France's settling with America first has created an ugly diplomatic situation which will have to be carefully nursed if it does not result ultimately in a breakdown in the negotiations all around.

Amount of Debt
One member of the American debt funding commission said: "The British flareup has charged the whole thing with dynamite."

France owes the United States about $4,000,000,000. She owes Britain slightly less, about $3,500,000,000.

In the house of commons debate and in Chancellor Churchill's statement of the British government's position yesterday, there was throughout a thread of intimation that the United States had sought to have its debt with France given preferred classification, or priority consideration.

Officially Denied
This was emphatically denied today by treasury officials concerned with the negotiations. At no time in the negotiations with Ambassador Jusserand here, it was stated, has this government sought to gain any unfair advantage. The money that France owes to England has only been considered in relation to France's general fiscal condition, which has been explained to Secretary Mellon.

Britain Waits U. S. Move In Debts Problem

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The next move in the inter-allied debts controversy must be made by the United States, for Great Britain has declared its stand, it was indicated today at the foreign office.

At the foreign office it was declared that Great Britain did not contest the right of the United States to secure costs of the American army of occupation through the Dawes plan. It does, however, contest the right of the United States to secure compensation for damages to property.

If the American government does not send an official note to Great Britain on the subject, the whole situation is expected to rest until the financial conference is held in Paris in January.

Great Britain hopes, it is said, that an inter-allied conference on all debts will be the outcome of this conference.

COUNCIL AGREES IN TRADE ZONING

City Board and Planning Commission Believe In Business Center

The city council this morning sustained the recommendation of the city planning commission for establishing a commercial district on the Haddock-Nibley property at the triangular corner of Canada boulevard and Verdugo road. The vote was 3 to 2 and took the form of an instruction to the city attorney to draft an ordinance creating such a district.

The motion was made by Councilman S. S. Gilhuly and seconded by Councilman C. E. Kimlin. Mayor Spencer Robinson joined with these councilmen in forming the majority vote that started the proceedings. Councilman Asa Hall and S. A. Davis voted "no" on the measure.

Discuss Policy
This action came after a two hour discussion that involved general policy with regard to creation of commercial districts in Glendale, and drew into the controversy Chairman T. W. Watson and S. C. Kinch of the city planning commission. Mr. Watson defended the action of that body and Mr. Kinch took the opposite view, stating that J. H. Randall of the commission had joined with him in a minority report opposing establishment of a commercial district at that point.

A petition of protest said to contain the names of over 20 percent of adjacent property owners was filed with the city clerk by Attorney H. D. Morrow, himself a property owner there and representative of the protestants.

W. C. Ingledue filed with the city clerk copies of the following (Turn to page 15, col. 6)

Shorts From Los Angeles

Man, 100, Pays
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Notre Dame claimed the distinction today of being the oldest man on the Pacific coast paying all money. Lane, who is 100 years old, was ordered to contribute monthly to the support of his wife, Donia Lane, 76, who sued for divorce, charging Lane was cruel.

Boy Is Blinded
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Probably fatally hurt when a stick of dynamite with which he was playing late yesterday exploded, Vicente Nasaya, lay in a field here all night and was found today. The boy was fearfully mutilated and completely blinded.

Flapper Bandit

Heavy Oil Flow
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Flowing 4,750 barrels of oil daily, the largest well yet developed in the Dominguez field was reported today. Oil was struck at 4,000 feet.

GOLD OWNERS NEED HAVE NO FEAR

Synthetic Metal Will Not Influence Standard, Experts Say

In the following dispatch one of the foremost authorities of the world gives assurance, through the writer, that science is not going to disrupt business and finance and that no one need prepare to get rid of his $20 gold certificates and $10 gold pieces for fear they will deteriorate in value.

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—There is no financial dynamite in the possible transmutation of gold from quicksilver, even if present experiments prove it commercially feasible. "Interesting but not important" is the way engineers, metallurgists and financiers characterize the experiments of Professor Adolf Meitner of Berlin, who produced gold by the action of violent electric rays, passing through a quartz lamp, on mercury vapor.

Professor H. H. Sheldon of New York university and associates are now endeavoring to determine if this process can be made commercially possible. As performed by Professor Meitner, it would cost about $133,000 to produce one ounce of gold worth $20.67. Alarmists have declared that if it were possible to produce gold from quicksilver cheaper than it now can be mined, smelted and refined, financial chaos might result, necessitating revision of the world's monetary standards and promoting an era of speculation which would disrupt all business and produce panic.

Don't Be Alarmed
"The proposition is not as dangerous as it sounds," Robert J. Grant, director of the mint said today. "Should the Sheldon experiments prove commercially practicable, I do not believe it would be necessary to change the monetary standard. The production of quicksilver or mercury in the world is far below the production of gold, since there is less demand for quicksilver. Even if this demand should increase, I am inclined to believe it would not be possible to produce quicksilver to the extent gold is now produced."

"The United States could absorb a greatly increased production of (Turn to page 18, col. 4)

Former Dry Agent and Politician Are Indicted

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—Indictments charging Alvin W. Greer, suspended prohibition agent for the Sacramento district, with falsifying claims against the government and Bart Greer, his cousin, with posing as a prohibition officer and extorting money from bootleggers on promises of immunity, were returned by the federal grand jury here today. Neither of the men have been arrested yet.

The former dry law officer served several terms in the state legislature from this district and is well known in political circles throughout the state. His cousin, Bart Greer, is an employee in the office of Secretary of State Frank J. Jordan, and served as an attaché in the governor's office during the administration of both Hiram W. Johnson and William D. Stephens.

Naval Board of Inquiry To Investigate Disaster

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 11.—A naval board of inquiry was expected to be appointed today by Captain Stanford E. Moses, commander of the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet, to investigate the crash of a navy seaplane of the H-16 type here yesterday which resulted in the death of three officers and two enlisted men and seriously injuring three others.

It was considered possible that the controls of the plane might have become jammed thus causing the machine to go into a nose dive, and become unmanageable.

$4,000,000 Estate Left By Tom Ince to Wife

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Thomas H. Ince, film producer, who died November 19, left an estate valued at $4,000,000, according to lawyers who today prepared for filing of the will in court. Mrs. Ince and her two children were left practically the entire estate.

Approve Four Rum Treaties As Blockades

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Four rum treaties, intended to erect a diplomatic blockade against the smuggling of bootleg liquors into the United States were approved today by the Senate foreign relations committee at its first meeting in the present Congress.

Three of the treaties would extend the "merry mile" search and seizure zone of ships flying the flags of France, The Netherlands, and Panama, while the fourth would institute a mutual blockade of the Canadian border line.

TELLS NEED FOR C. OF C. SERVICE

S. P. Morris of Los Angeles Speaks at Luncheon of Local Organization

S. P. Morris, assistant to Charles P. Bayer in the organization service department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was the main speaker at the weekly meeting of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club at the Masonic temple today noon.

Mr. Morris, who is known to many in Glendale, told the members that Los Angeles realizes that she cannot permanently succeed unless the rest of Southern California succeeds. So that live and adequate chambers of commerce will be maintained in outlying cities of the Southwest, the Los Angeles chamber has established its organization service department.

A strong belief in the Chamber of Commerce organization, the men who direct it, and its executive head, will assure success, he said. Towns and cities have come to be known by the measuring rod of their own Chambers of Commerce, Mr. Morris said. He scored those who criticize the chamber directors and officers, but who do nothing themselves to help.

Tells C. of C. Need
"The southland has had population indigestion, Mr. Morris declared. This has in many instances retarded development, he said.

"Never before has the need of the Chamber of Commerce to weld the masses been so great, he asserted.

Secretary Howard I. Wood announced the monthly meeting of the Southern California Chamber of Commerce Secretaries here on Saturday, December 20.

President D. H. Smith thanked Mr. Morris for his address.

On Flood Control
J. W. Reagan, chief engineer of the Los Angeles flood control district, will discuss flood-control conditions in Glendale at next week's meeting. Chairman George F. Orbiget announced.

Director W. L. Truitt of the Chamber of Commerce, in speaking of the "Try Glendale First," declared that if everyone in Glendale patronized home merchants there would be no vacant stores in this city.

Edith M. Unwin won the attendance prize, which was a silk wrist, donated by President Smith. Next week's prize will be a shirt, the gift of Director George B. Karr. Community singing was led by J. Arthur Myers with Mike Kauffman at the piano.

Masked Bandits Escape With $90,000 In Gems

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—Four masked men entered the jewelry store of S. Rosenblatt & Son in the Germantown district here this morning, held up S. Rosenblatt and two clerks and escaped in an automobile with several trays containing gems valued at $90,000, according to police reports.

Bids for Repairs to Navy Yard Are Asked

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Proposals will be received by the navy department on February 4, 1925, for the construction of a repairing and fitting pier at the Puget Sound, navy yard, Puget Sound, Wash., it has been announced at the navy department.

Interstate Commerce Appointees Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The senate interstate commerce committee has approved the nominations of N. Meyer, Wisconsin, and J. B. Campbell of Spokane, Wash., as members of the Interstate Commerce commission. Both were reappointments for seven year terms by President Coolidge.

LEAGUE GIVEN SUPPORT IN ONE ITEM

Suggestion That 15 Jurists Draft International Law Code Is Okay

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Decision by the council of the League of Nations at Rome to summon fifteen jurists of world-wide fame to draft a code of international law will receive the co-operation of America.

For many years, the United States government has been anxious to see a start made toward the real codification of international law. Elihu Root succeeded in including a clause to that effect in the Republican national platform of 1920. Mr. Harding was in sympathy with the project and both President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes have since emphasized its importance. Indeed, in the last message to congress, Mr. Coolidge made a special paragraph on the subject which now has been taken seriously by the League of Nations, whose initiative in calling the conference is the first practical step taken since 1909. It is pertinent, in view of the action by the League of Nations council, to quote Mr. Coolidge's exact words:

"Our country should also support efforts which are being made toward the codification of international law. We can look more hopefully, in the first instance, for research and studies that are likely to be productive of results, to a co-operation of representatives of the bar and members of the international institutes and societies than to a conference of those who are technically representative of their respective gov-

GARFIELD JONES TAKEN BY DEATH

Resident Here for Thirty-nine Years; Funeral Services Take Place Saturday

Garfield W. Jones of 240 North Cedar street died this morning, Thursday, December 11, 1924, at a local hospital, after an illness of five weeks. Mr. Jones was born at Cameron, Mo., on February 6, 1881, and was 43 years old at the time of his death. He came to Glendale when a small boy and had resided here for the past thirty-nine years. He attended the local schools and was a well known resident here. Mr. Jones had been in the employ of the public service department of the city of Glendale for the past twelve years and until a year ago was serving in the capacity of collector. For the past year he was a member of the office force.

Mr. Jones was united in marriage with Miss Lillian Shropshire, formerly a city employee, fourteen months ago.

Funeral Saturday
Mr. Jones was a member of the Central Christian church. Surviving relatives are his widow, Mrs. Lillian Shropshire Jones; his mother, Mrs. A. K. Crawford; a sister, Mrs. J. F. Wilde; and a brother, Lester Jones, all of Glendale. Funeral services will be held at the Central Christian church Saturday, December 13, at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the church, will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. J. W. Utter and Rev. C. R. Norton. Burial will take place in Grand View Memorial park. Jewel City Undertaking Co. has charge of arrangements.

Honored by City
The members of the City Council today passed a resolution of condolence for the family of the deceased, and ordered the flag of Glendale to fly at half mast in honor of Mr. Jones. The official action was taken at a meeting of the City Council this afternoon.

Mr. Jones, it was announced at the council meeting, had been an employee of the city for twelve years.

SAMUEL GOMPERS, internationally known labor leader, head of the American Federation of Labor, who is reported to have passed away in Mexico, while on board a train being rushed to the United States. Heart failure is said to have caused his death, official confirmation being lacking.

'TRADE AT HOME' PLEA TO ROTARY

Informal Program Features Luncheon of Club; Fine Trout Are Served

"Trade in Glendale" will be the theme of the chamber of commerce program this year. Dan Kelly told fellow Rotarians at their luncheon this noon. He urged Christmas shopping at home in the last minute speech of an informal program.

Visiting Rotarians included Horace Dunbar, M. S. Hauser, Fred C. Moon, Paul C. Kane, A. C. Riddell and E. Richard Just, Los Angeles; Ed Nay, Pasadena; Leon H. Austin, Burbank; Owen Wood, Upland; L. R. Tanner, Brainerd, Minn., and G. R. Le Sauvage, Chicago. W. E. Hewitt, former member, was the guest of Dr. Fay Stone.

Heavy fines were assessed for the trout dinner served by Tuesday afternoon club women. The fish were caught Wednesday by a party of Rotarians and President Herbert Smith reported Dr. Henry Westphal caught a record number.

Rev. E. E. Ford presented Charles Fawkes, new member, a framed code of ethics. G. R. Le Sauvage told of the original Chicago club. Les LaVelle announced Saturday's games for Glendale Union High school.

Horace Dunbar, president of the Los Angeles club, said he was "a Scotchman who was always glad—when asked—to give—a talk."

"The scramble for wealth and power is the Cleopatra for which men lose the world," he told the Glendale club. "But into this scramble has come a power called Rotary which is exerting its influence to make operative the principles of brotherhood and service."

He added that "friendliness is the foundation stone of Rotary."

Germany Puts Official Stamp on Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The state department was officially advised today that Baron Ago von Maltzan would succeed Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt as German ambassador here.

SENATE ENACTS BILL FOR NEW WARSHIPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—In response to Secretary Wilbur's demand for a larger navy, the Senate this afternoon finally enacted the $111,000,000 "new navy" bill, intended to place the United States on an equality with Great Britain, under terms of the naval disarmament treaty. The bill, which now goes to the president for his signature, was finally passed when the Senate voted down a parliamentary technicality raised by Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, which had tied up the measure since the last session of Congress. The bill provided funds for building eight new cruisers, converting six coal battleships into oil burners and for building six new gunboats.

LABOR LEADER IS STRICKEN BY HEART FAILURE

End Comes While Being Rushed to United States; Confirmation Lacking

BULLETIN
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 11.—A message received at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon by District Passenger Agent of the International Great Northern railroad from the dispatcher of the Mexican National lines at Monterey adds to the confusion of conflicting reports on the reported death of Samuel Gompers.

The message advised that the train carrying the Gompers party of twenty-seven was running on schedule time and would reach Laredo at 6:45 Friday morning. The message contained no word regarding Gompers' death or illness.

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE
For International News Service.
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 11, 11 a. m.—Samuel Gompers, noted American labor leader, died this morning at San Nicolas, Mexico, according to a message received here today, which, up to this hour, had not been officially confirmed.

The report of Gompers' death came in a message received at 8:15 o'clock this morning to General Gomez from the town of San Nicolas, which is a small place near San Luis Potosi.

Immediately upon receipt of this message, friends of Gompers sought to get in touch with the authorities at San Nicolas, but up to this hour nothing definite other than information in General Gomez's message was received.

A message to General Gomez's heart was unable to function as the train which was rushing him back to the United States was about to go across the high mountain range near San Nicolas. This range is one of the highest in that section of Mexico. Gompers was being taken as quickly as possible to a low altitude in the hope that death could be staved off.

Three physicians, in attendance upon the president of the American Federation of Labor, "used every device to keep him alive," the message to General Gomez said.

Efforts to get in touch with the train up to 11:30 o'clock were of no avail. Neither the National railways nor the Mexican Federation of Labor could obtain official confirmation of the labor leader's reported death.

Train dispatchers were unable to locate the train, which apparently had made a stop near San Nicolas. It was believed that the train had been halted at some small station with which there was no direct telegraph communication.

Gompers was stricken with a heart affliction when he came here recently to attend the inauguration of President Calles. His condition became aggravated yesterday and it was hurriedly decided to rush him to the United States, where a lower altitude prevailed.

MID-WESTERNERS MAKE STATE GOAL

Local Realty Board Gets Encouraging Message On Home Seekers

"California is the goal of many middle westerners," says Everett A. White, president of the California Real Estate association, in a message received today by President W. L. Twining of the Glendale Realty board, "and right now the eyes of the realty world are on this state, for nation-wide publicity has been given the California Realty Board Membership week."

"We have in the state association and local boards now more than 2,500 real estate brokers. It may interest you to know that our members handle through their offices more than 75 per cent of the real estate transactions of the state. The local board has ever been a powerful factor in the development of the community, and I am extremely interested in ascertaining how far it has progressed in this highly important drive. Reports from the district vice-presidents indicate that California will maintain its undisputed lead in the Realtors' organization."

The Glendale Realty board asks each member to bring either a broker or associate member into the board during this week.

According to State Secretary Glenn D. Willaman, more than fifty realty boards in the state are participating in the drive for members.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Dec. 11.—"What is Americanism?" Is the teaching the foreigners the true love of America, how to live as we do, or allowing them to cling to their own language and customs even while earning good livings in this country? This was the gist of a three-minute talk by Mrs. Charles Turck, president of the La Crescenta Women's club, at the business session held yesterday afternoon at the La Crescenta schoolhouse.

The American Citizenship section with Mrs. Alice Singleton, curator, is studying not only to be able to give a comprehensive answer to this question, but also to many others in regard to this important subject which every American woman has an interest in. The session opened with reading and acceptance of the last meeting's minutes by Mrs. A. B. Cochran, secretary, and a report from the treasurer, Mrs. John T. Martin.

Interesting reports were also given by the curators of the various sections of the work. Reports on American citizenship by Mrs. Alice Singleton; music by Mrs. Q. R. MacDonald; drama by Mrs. Jessie Hansen; literature by Mrs. Charles Collins; home economics by Mrs. Zella Merrill; parliamentary by Mrs. Fred Pinkus; entertainment by Mrs. F. Sullivan; calling by Mrs. A. W. Brown; program by Mrs. F. Georges. Building committee's report was made by Mrs. Harvey H. Bissell. Mrs. Turck read three letters on the efficient work of Dr. C. E. Culbreth had done in having the Portland Cement Company, which was the donor of the lots for the clubhouse, give the club an extension on the time needed for the building before the lots become forfeited. A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Culbreth.

New members voted in by acclamation were Mesdames A. Cumway, H. Davenport, E. Thomas, C. R. Messig, Ruth Barbour, H. S. Garver and H. N. Nuzum. After discussion a unanimous vote was taken to authorize the president, treasurer and secretary to sign the petition for the paving and sidewalks on Los Angeles avenue of the club lot. Property owners have ten years to pay for it, the county paying one-fourth.

In response to the plea of the American Legion that the club deed twenty-five feet on the north side of the lot making a clear roadway from their lot out to Los Angeles the authorization was given to the officers to sign this petition. It is understood that when all lots facing on Piedmont are signed up the street can be cut through without condemnation proceedings. After consultation with the parliamentarian the second December meeting, which falls on the 24th, will be postponed. Action was taken to change the order of meetings to hold the social meeting adjacent to the month and business meeting last of the month.

Mrs. Anna Aiken asked for contributions from the ladies for the refreshment table at the dance to be given at the Verdugo City auditorium on December 20, proceeds to go to the Angeles Forest Protective association.

Mrs. A. B. Cochran, an old friend of Gene Stratton Porter, the novelist killed in an auto accident last Saturday, read a short memorial of the late author's life, which will be put in the club's records. Mrs. Harvey H. Bissell suggested sending $5 and books to the little French war orphan. Harry Fowler offered the use of the Verdugo City auditorium to the women any afternoon. After a social time meeting adjourned to January.

Mrs. Q. R. MacDonald presided at the tea urn with Mrs. Virna Harman Walker at the table.

Children of the La Crescenta school heard an educational talk by Harry James, of Glendale, who told of the work in making phonograph records. Mr. James had with him some of the raw materials, also some of the finished records.

Your Christmas Gifts

Already the spirit of Christmas is in the air. The stores are festive with holiday decorations and with gifts temptingly displayed. The children are singing Christmas songs, there are mysterious whisperings and packages that are quickly spirited into hiding places. Everyone is doing or planning something for others.

It may be that we carry the giving of presents to extremes. Surely to buy expensive gifts we cannot afford, simply because we have not the courage to accept without giving in return, is to make of Christmas a burden instead of a joy and to pervert its real meaning.

It is never good policy to spend more than we can afford on non-essentials, but a little extravagance at Christmas time may be overlooked, for it brings so much happiness, both to the giver and the recipient, and it helps to foster the Christmas spirit, which means so much to the world.

We are a prosperous nation and a prosperous city, and the holiday activity is a reflection of our prosperity, an expression of our gratitude, which can best be expressed by making someone else happy.

Money we can afford to spend is never wasted, for when we spend it we are keeping it in circulation, where it contributes to better times and better business, which benefits us all. Holiday buyers help to spread the Christmas spirit. So it is merely a question with each one how much he can afford to spend for Christmas. It is time now that you have made your decision and purchased your gifts. Every day the crowds in the stores are increasing, making it more difficult to get good and prompt service, depleting and soiling the stocks and reducing the merchants and clerks to nervous wrecks. December 24 is a poor time to buy Christmas presents. You have the Christmas feeling. Do it now.

And do not forget, in the disbursement of your Christmas fund, that there are those who are unfortunate, who, for one reason or another, do not look forward to Christmas. You will be doubly blessed in making such as these happy.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Dec. 11.—Chief John Long of the police department has begun an active campaign "at the source," to rid this city of hoboes. By watching the railroad yards he gets this undesirable class of tourists before they have an opportunity to lose themselves in the city streets. Already this plan is reported to have produced results. The "results" are given a fluster out of town and warned not to come back.

Evangelistic meetings are being conducted at the Holiness church, corner First street and Angeleno avenue, by Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Oliver, lately from the Hawaiian islands. Rev. Mrs. Oliver has had large experience as an evangelist and is hailed as a successful soul winner. Services are being held every day at 10 and 7:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The annual financial statement of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, covering the fiscal year ended December 1, shows the chamber to be heavily in debt, with obligations of $2,056.24 and $45.61 on hand. Outstanding and due from service fund and unpaid memberships is $2,457.49, which if paid in would liquidate these obligations and leave a cash balance. The financial statement was presented at the last meeting by Manager J. W. Charleville.

It was decided to appoint a committee whose duty it will be to work out some kind of a financial plan for handling the present indebtedness and to take care of the work for the coming year. This committee is composed of C. H. Branaman, Ray Sence, Val Bonney, Bert Cross and J. D. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Schmutten and family of Wenatchee, Washington, have arrived in Burbank to spend the winter. They are located at 706 Walnut avenue. The Washington folk spent last winter here. They are friends of A. M. Scheble, a former resident of Wenatchee.

Open Revival Campaign At Nazarene Church

The evangelistic campaign opened at the First Church of the Nazarene last night, a large crowd being present for the first of a series of services. Meetings this week are being held at the old church, 1052 South Glendale avenue, and, beginning with the services Sunday, will be held at 417 East Acacia avenue.

Rev. Fred St. Clair, evangelist, preached the opening sermon last night, taking his text from John 3:19, "This is the condemnation that light has come." A feature of the service was the special music, which included a solo by Mrs. Loretta Hull of Los Angeles and a duet by Rev. and Mrs. Henry Scheideman. Services will be held each night at 7:30 o'clock with the exception of Saturday nights. The public is invited to attend.

Famous Piraeus, port of Athens, is to have an artesian water system that will cost nearly $1,000,000.

will allow the other grade to choose the side of the question. The nominating committee of the Women's Guild of St. Luke of the Mountains will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. W. Brown on Los Angeles avenue at 7:30 p. m.

Children of the Sunday school of St. Luke of the Mountains met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Wattell to finish the little gifts they have been making for the missionary box for the diocese of Los Angeles.

The drama section of the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, tomorrow night, at 7:30, to study the playlet they are preparing for presentation in January.

Tonight the Young People's Glee club of Occidental college will appear in program at the community church. All are invited. An offering will be taken. No admission will be charged.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Dec. 11.—Prominent Eagle Rock residents recently gathered at Franklin High school with representatives from Highland Park, Glassell and Rockdale, to consider the proposed borough system of city government. From Eagle Rock there were attending H. G. Warren, C. W. Young, Dr. J. C. Shedd, Mr. Phillips and Mrs. Reiter. Much general discussion was had, in all of which each of the Eagle Rock participants took part in behalf of the plan for two boroughs in the northeast district, one for Eagle Rock and one for Highland Park, instead of but one jumbo district, as is the contention of some of those who attended. The Eagle Rock plan is to get closer to the people in the proposed boroughs and consequently a more representative system than can be had by taking in too large a territory for any one borough. Mr. Warren explained that the desire in supporting his plan of the two boroughs is to more nearly retain the individuality of the community.

A woman chicken fancier of this community, and whose name is withheld because of family embarrassment, had a hen that suffered from auto intoxication. The hen refused to lay her eggs anywhere but in the family motor car. She acquired this habit in the first bloom of maturity, when the car was parked adjacent to the henery. Then she refused to lay elsewhere. If the family car was out and she felt the mood coming on, she went to the street, waited till a car came along, flew in, deposited the precious nugget, flew out and returned home cackling loudly. But one day this remarkable hen used the bad judgment to fly into a car driven by some unscrupulous person who at once clapped her under the seat and stepped on the gas. The local chicken fancier is desirous of receiving information that will lead to the recovery of her lost hen.

Senators Amends Plan For Muscle Shoals

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Two million tons of fertilizer will be produced annually at the government's huge Muscle Shoals project, under an amendment which the Senate wrote into the Underwood plan for operating the property.

The amendment was sponsored by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, who abandoned his own plan of government ownership. It would compel the lessee of the project to use 40,000 tons of fixed nitrogen annually in the manufacture of fertilizer for the third year. This provision, however, would not be operative in time of war.

Cotton Conditions In South Are Favorable

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 11.—The final government cotton crop estimate of 13,153,000 bales, although it represented the largest yield in the history of the country, is considered to reflect generally satisfactory conditions in the south in view of the small carry over and the unusual activity manifested recently in textile manufacturing circles. Best informed circles here look for higher cotton prices during the holidays, although no sensational upward movement seems justified. Atlanta real estate assessments for 1925 will approximate $259,000,000, an increase of $10,000,000.

PLAYERS' LATEST COMEDY PLEAS

'Only 38' Makes Bow at Playhouse Under Fine Presentation

"Only 38," which the Dobinson players presented at the Playhouse for the first time yesterday, is a comedy of college life, as the title indicates. The play permeates the entire play, there is a peculiar charm which appeals to everyone, as was indicated by the delight of the first night audience.

The story deals with a widow of a minister who has to face the world with twin son and daughter aged 18. She had married when a child. Her life had been a dull and conventional one, and after her husband's death she couldn't see why she should shut up the song in her soul any longer. She moved to a college town and put the children in college. She bought new, bright colored furniture and attractive clothes. The two children watched the transformation aghast. They had never thought of their mother as a beautiful creature, not so much older than they were, and they were forced to admit, much more attractive. Love comes to the mother and the necessity of choosing between the man she loves and her children. The novel manner in which this is worked out furnishes the balance of the play.

Cast Is Fine

Gertrude Kellar as Mrs. Stanley, the widow, "Only 38," cannot be given too much praise. She portrays this character with fidelity and understanding. Thyra Ruhland as Mrs. Newcomb was effective, and her sneezing scene was decidedly ludicrous. George C. Pearson as Mr. Sanborn, Mrs. Stanley's father, whose one desire in life is to see "the bright lights," was immense, and could not be improved upon. Mary Isabelle Alpaugh as Lucy and William H. Stephens as Robert, the twins, made a decided hit and had the audience with them from the start. Their individual work was splendidly put over. Gertrude Rothe in the role of Mary Hadley was very charming. Richard Ehlers, who is always welcomed upon his entrance, as Sydney Johnson, the college "man," in love with Lucy, did a clever bit of character work and the audience would have liked more of him. Olaf Hytten, a newcomer, was excellent in the role of Professor Giddens, who ultimately wins the mother.

College songs were sung by a group of Glendadians composed of Helen Anderson, Edwarda Rothe, Winifred Anderson, Maurice Widows, Harold Trefry and Harry Glazier. The scenic effects were done by Rita Glover.

Far East Situation Cleared by France

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—France's signature on the note sent to the Chinese government by the protocol powers—the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the Netherlands—was taken in official circles here as indication that the international political situation in the Far East is at least showing signs of clearing.

Although the powers at the Washington conference provided measures which would go a long way toward putting China on her feet, none of the nine treaties concerning China have gone into effect as yet because of the refusal of France to ratify them until China and France reach an agreement on the gold franc dispute between the two countries.

With the Franco-Chinese controversy once settled, France would ratify the treaties now held up and the program of governmental reform in China, originally planned by the powers at the Washington conference, would immediately begin to operate.

LEGION NOTES

A good crowd attended the initial performance last night of the new show, "Only 38," given by the Dobinson Players for the benefit of the American Legion. The play itself is a charming comedy of college life. It is a clever story, interspersed with many humorous situations, which delighted the audience. The regular cast, headed by Gertrude Kellar, took their parts splendidly, and were highly appreciated, judging from the applause received.

Tonight is the last night that the Legion receives 50 per cent of the gross receipts for its general and relief fund, and all Glendadians who enjoy a splendid show are asked to attend tonight's performance. Reserved seats are 75 cents. Tickets are on sale at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway; the Glendale Book store, 113 South Brand; Roberts & Echols Drug store, or at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, or may be had of any Legionnaire.

ANNUAL FROLIC OF FACULTY ON DEC. 12

Teachers of Broadway High To Appear In Clever Bit of Satire

Gales of laughter will shake the Broadway High school auditorium on Friday night, December 12, when the Glendale Union High school teachers present, as the piece de resistance of their third annual frolic, George Kelly's celebrated satire "on little theatre movements," "The Torchbearers." This prediction that the show will be a fiesta of mirth emanates from Harold L. Brewster, teacher of dramatics and director of the play, who in addition will appear in the role of Frederick Ritter. The curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Brewster bases his prediction on the success of rehearsals, which have been under way for weeks and have succeeded in bringing to the production a high historic polish. Kelly's satire had a long run in New York and was acclaimed throughout the country as a great play. Mingled with the vivid character portrayals are gigantic spasms of "hokum," calculated by Mr. Brewster to send the most sedate of audiences into delicious and prolonged laughter. Tickets are selling fast, he adds, and are available at both high schools and at Roberts & Echols, druggists, 102 East Broadway.

Are Experienced
Mary Jane Collins, who plays the part of Paula Ritter, and Mrs. Helen S. Moir, who plays the part of Mrs. J. Duro Pampinelli, are said to have had considerable experience in college plays. Morgan Smith, who plays the part of the stage manager, is a professional dancer and opened "Society Night" at the San Francisco exposition. He appeared in the two previous faculty frolics. Paul E. Webb, who plays Ralph Twiller, has starred in several Pomona college plays.

The Glendale Union High school orchestra will furnish the musical program, under the direction of Irving Ulmer.

Hungry Yeggs Get Food And Cash In Store

Hungry burglars last night had their fill at Daley's store No. 27, 133 South Central avenue. After jimmying the front door they opened the ice box in the grocery department and drank two bottles of milk and a bottle of cream. They then visited the meat market and enjoyed a number of cold tamales. For dessert they dispatched a number of apples from the fruit stand.

Before going out the burglars managed to locate $26 that was secreted back of the vegetable stand. They searched for a larger sum of money which they believed was hidden somewhere in the grocery department, reports Ben H. Woods, manager of the store, but were obliged to depart without it. Mr. Wood has notified the Glendale police department and an investigation is under way.

Firemen's Relief Club Thanks for Dance Aid

The following resolution of appreciation has been issued by the Glendale Firemen's Relief association, through R. E. Dodsworth, president. The first annual ball of the relief association will take place tonight at 333 North Brand boulevard.

"The Glendale Firemen's Relief association wishes to extend to all who have, by their co-operation and material aid, done so much to make the first annual ball a success, our most sincere thanks. We especially thank those who have by cash donations and merchandise credits helped to swell the treasury of the association and provide a means of aiding the families of those firemen who may meet with misfortune or illness in line of duty. We hope to be able to give space and mention to all of these friends in our dance program.

PLOT AGAINST FATHERS AT MEETING

P.-T. A. Members Endeavor To Make Men's Auxiliary Active Order

Plotting against father was the indoor sport engaged in yesterday afternoon by Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations, meeting at Harvard High school, where a committee was appointed to make thorough investigation of past, present and possible fathers' organizations either within or without the P.-T. A.

"Father likes to stay home at nights" was the contention of one woman, who said her husband was willing to pay his dues into the P.-T. A. treasury and be enrolled as a member of any fathers' organization formed.

"Taxes are already too high, so why should fathers be called upon to furnish equipment for school grounds and buildings?" was the echo heard from another direction, where father's sentiments were voiced.

Insist on Lead
"Men don't like to be auxiliary to women so that's the reason fathers' auxiliaries haven't been a success in P.-T. A. work," was more enlightenment given.

It took Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, the only man present, to take the floor for the fathers.

"When you can establish a real objective for the men's organizations, then they will be successful. Why not provide an interesting program of education?" he suggested.

On his motion Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president, appointed Mesdames R. N. Stryker, L. D. Torrey, A. G. Evans, W. R. Wichter and F. W. Parr, members of the committee, to study father and his reactions to being invited to become a member of a P.-T. A. auxiliary, and make recommendations back to the Federation.

For Forum Dinner
Mrs. L. D. Torrey is chairman of the committee to arrange the forum dinner for the Chamber of Commerce in March. Votes of thanks were given during the meeting to the committee serving for the recent benefit card party and to Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., at whose home the affair was held.

Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, announced that tonight there will be a joint meeting of Glendale school boards to discuss a joint bond election for a larger school program. He predicted that the election will be held within sixty days.

Announcement was made that offerings are to be taken by the various associations for Near East Relief. Assistance will also be given the Glendale Welfare Council and Bureau for Christmas.

Maybe This Boy Now Goes So Far As To Assert That 'THERE AN'T NO SANTA CLAUS'

CHINO, Dec. 11.—No one ever whispered in the ear of Russell F. Barnes, 17-year-old high school youth, the terrible truth that—

"There is no Santa Claus who comes down the chimney in California."

Russell is going to face the San Bernardino county superior court as a result of his blissful ignorance. He is charged with burglary, although it is asserted he was paying a surreptitious call on Mary Williams, a high school girl friend, when he was caught wedged in the chimney at the Ford Williams home here.

A week before he endeavored to enter through a window, Mary screamed as he approached her. Russell hurriedly left. Then he thought of Santa Claus, that Jolly Roger, who is pictured as driving over roof tops and diving through chimneys Christmas eve.

Russell borrowed a tow rope and let himself down the chimney of the Williams' home as the town clock was striking midnight. He found that the base of the chimney would not permit him to pass. Hand-over-hand he was climbing out again, when the rope broke. Like a plummet the boy dropped into the trap, doing a better job than any "sweep" in removing soot from the walls of his prison. His feet dangled in the fire place. He was tortured by the cement and bricks.

For four hours he suffered the martyrdom of a sad Lothario. Cold began to numb his body, for he had divested himself of heavy clothing. A series of shouts brought Papa Williams to the scene. He pulled Russell's legs, but that didn't widen the chimney. He gave the boy a push, but he was too well located to be dislodged easily.

Then the town constables, fire chief and other dignitaries were summoned. From the roof at dawn they saw a rope to Russell, who looped it under his arms. The roosters were crowing reveille as the disheveled youth was brought to the surface, as it were.

Arrest followed. The boy was taken to the county jail. And, as he was being led away, the girl confided to him what every star school student, as he is reported to be, should know:

"There is no Santa Claus coming down the chimneys in California."

Eisteddfod Lays Plans For Musical Contests

Heads of the various music departments for the Glendale district, Southern California Eisteddfod, completed preliminary arrangements for the Eisteddfod music contests at a meeting at luncheon here yesterday. The head of each division will later appoint a co-operating group, the names of these assistants to be reported in the next meeting of the committee, which will occur on December 31.

The general music committee is composed of: Chairman, H. M. Butts; orchestra, J. Arthur Meyers; voice, Earl C. Houk; piano, Mrs. M. O. Sparrow; choirs, Mrs. W. Q. Widows; service clubs, O. Andersen; chorus, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell; solo, instrumental, A. Lowinsky; band, C. M. Burke; ex-officio member, R. Ernest Tucker. All of these workers are from Glendale, with the exception of Mrs. Sparrow and Mr. Houk, who represent Burbank and Eagle Rock, respectively.

Convention Reports Are Given at Meeting

Mrs. Ruby K. Smart, of 110 Olive street, president emerita of Glendale W. C. T. U. and a member of the state executive committee of the W. C. T. U., and Rev. S. G. Logie, of 114 South Everett street, state evangelist were in attendance yesterday at an all day session of a committee of 100 held at Temperance temple, Los Angeles.

Seventeen of the nineteen delegates to the National Jubilee W. C. T. U. convention held in Chicago recently were present and gave reports of the convention. The progressive plan for the coming Fifty Year Crusade was announced at the meeting and endorsed by the Southern California women. All W. C. T. U. units, including the Glendale union will take a part in the plan.

Evening News Reader Boosts Prayer Meets

Editor The Evening News: In a recent number of your paper you printed an account of a prayer meeting held in one of the churches in our city stating there was 120 in attendance. I was most pleased with that item of news. The 3rd of December at the Pacific Avenue church the attendance was thirty-two. I am a great believer in prayer, because it was in direct answer to prayer that I was influenced to strive to do the will of my Heavenly Father. We are asking our Heavenly Father to so stir the church members in Glendale that there will be an increased attendance at every church in Glendale. We are hoping for at least an attendance of 64 before the John Brown meetings commence.

FUTURE PLANS IN SCHOOLS EXPECTED

Joint Committee Report to Be Given Tonight May Ask Bond Election

A report on additions to high school and grammar school buildings that may involve millions of dollars and is said to anticipate an immediate bond election will be rendered tonight before a joint meeting of the Glendale Union High school Board of Trustees and the elementary school Board of Education. The meeting will be held 9 o'clock tonight, at the Broadway High school, following a meeting of the high school board. D. J. Hibben, chairman of the joint committee, will make the report.

The investigations of this committee have required some months to complete and it is believed that Mr. Hibben's report will carry sweeping recommendations. One of the plans under consideration is construction of a new high school in the northwest section. Another plan involves the creation of a nucleus for a junior high school system.

The meeting will be presided over by Albert D. Pearce, president of the G. U. H. S. Board of Trustees and chairman of the joint board, which comprises: For the Board of Education, D. J. Hibben, E. H. Learned and Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools; and for the Board of Trustees, H. W. Yarik, George H. Bentley and George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High school.

Evening News Cooperates In Sale of Seals

Co-operating with the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis association, The Glendale Evening News has secured a supply of the Christmas seals for sale. Proceeds from these seals go to aid in the nationwide fight against the great white plague. In a recent issue of The News a page advertisement of Tanner & Hall, motor car dealers, commended the purchase of seals to Glendale people. In the same spirit The News has secured the seals in order that Glendale shoppers will find it convenient to stop at 139 South Brand boulevard to secure a supply of seals to use on Christmas mail.

Electa Social Club Bazaar Is Successful

The bazaar given yesterday by the Electa Social club at 219 South Brand boulevard proved successful, the sum of $100 being made. This is the second bazaar given by the club this fall and the total amount made from the two bazaars was $400. A cooked food sale was held in connection with the bazaar. Mrs. Clytelle Hewitt is president of the club. General arrangements for the bazaar were in charge of Mrs. Nettie Lawson.

Stone Hurlled by Boy Injures Autoist's Eye

Riley Reed of Los Angeles was taken to the Glendale hospital for treatment yesterday when a rock thrown through the windshield of his car by some mischievous boy hit him in the eye. After an examination the eye was found to be uninjured and Reed went home. The rock was hurled from near the corner of West Broadway and San Fernando road. The boy has not been found, the police reported today.

INJUNCTION IS PLANNED BY TAXPAYERS

Map of Sycamore Canyon Improvement District Is Attacked at Meeting

Injunction proceedings against levying of the Sycamore Canyon road assessment by the City Council loomed today, following a mass meeting last night of Glendale citizens at the Glendale Intermediate schoolhouse, under the auspices of the Southeast Improvement association.

After a fiery session, the meeting adjourned to reconvene Saturday night, when legal talent will be selected and the matter of attempting to secure an injunction against the city will be put to a final vote.

Charges against and ridicule of the conduct of the council and councilmen stirred the session. That one assessment map was used at the time protesters against the project appeared before the council, and then an entirely different one substituted after the Sycamore Canyon road improvement was assured, was alleged by R. Belcher and others.

"I am here protesting because this was not fair. They didn't tell the truth in the first place," shouted Mr. Belcher, referring to the council. "They are as sneaking as I can be. I wish they were here so I could tell them to their faces."

Mr. Belcher appeared to express the sentiment of the audience, which packed the school auditorium, when he declared the assessment was being levied for a flood prevention project, which, under the present circumstances, is not, and will not be afforded, that property owners are being

Daily Greeting to News Readers

THE BEST WAY—

To write a book is to begin with an idea.
To rear a boy is to treat him like a man.
To revive business is to give it both principle and interest.
To run a church is to specialize in helpfulness.
To make marriage a success is to lengthen the honeymoon.
To cut down taxes is to cut down expenditures.

RADIO AND THE HOME

It is said that no entertainment and educational device in history has seized so firmly upon the interests of the public as the radio. The motion picture is not excepted, for that requires gathering at a central point to witness the exhibition. With the radio, isolation is a positive advantage and the lonely rancher off on the prairie, by this agency, has the world brought to his door.

On an isolated farm in North Dakota, where life is rather hard, two young lads of the family rigged up a radio set of their own and now the family gathers every night around the hearth and listens to music and speeches from points as far distant as London. And this same thing is happening in congested as well as isolated districts.

"Perhaps the most significant thing about radio is that it means most within the home," says an exchange. "The new marvel is proving a means of drawing the family together and keeping the members from idling out into the night in search of diversion."

"What has happened to home life?" has been the question of the last decade. Perhaps the radio is going to be the means of solving this problem.

THE DIVINE SPARK

So much of the literature and drama of the day dwells on the base and sordid side of human nature. The author does not give his characters any hopeful or redeeming features and any aspiration on their part is held up to ridicule. The defense of these writers is that they are showing life as it is, that theirs is the only true art, that to picture human nature as virtuous would not be a true reflection of life.

The reader wants his fiction characters to be human. He doesn't want them abnormally virtuous. There is a sordid side to every life and it is right to show it in fiction, but this side is not the whole of any life. As long as life lasts there is some degree of hope. There is some redeeming feature in the most degraded of creatures. And the soul that aspires to better things is exhibiting the divine spark within him and is not deserving of ridicule.

The truest art does not show the contemptible side of life alone, nor the noble side alone, for every life is made up of both. We read fiction for entertainment, but the best fiction is much more than that. It brings hope and cheer to a world sadly needing both. The best literature pictures life in the process of growth and development.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

It is said that Chicago theatre managers are willing to pay well for a word that will take the place of "balcony" and "mezzanine." Balcony sounds too high and the better class of theatre patrons shy from it. Mezzanine is too difficult to pronounce.

Human nature is queer. People will take something they do not want rather than expose their ignorance. However, "where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," in the case of the young lady who asked the elevator operator to stop at the "messaline" floor. She probably wished to purchase some messaline silk.

Salespeople say patrons shy from toilet articles and other products that have French names or names they cannot pronounce.

So Chicago theatre managers want a word that will be easily pronounced and that will sound a little lower down and a little higher up than balcony. Probably names as suggestive as "peanut gallery" and "nigger heaven" are not wanted.

EXTRAVAGANT AND WASTEFUL

Elimination of national waste was the theme of the annual report of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and economy in government was the plank on which President Coolidge was re-elected. The average citizen feels there is plenty of room for improvement in reducing the cost of government and eliminating waste and will second any efforts made along that line.

But the average citizen is not greatly concerned about waste or lack of economy in his private affairs. With the signing of the armistice, the removal of war-time restrictions and the great increase in wages, America went wild with extravagance, and we have not yet recovered from that orgy. With individual spending lavishly, it follows that we should have extravagance in government. However, it is one thing to be personally prodigal and another thing for officials to be wasteful with our money.

WHAT TO READ?

An exchange suggests that anyone may find the nucleus of an education in the lives of Aristotle, Shakespeare, Michael Angelo, Leonardo Da Vinci, Napoleon, Julius Caesar, Voltaire, Darwin, Huxley, Gallileo, Pasteur, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Washington, to be found in any good encyclopedia. It is true that the lives of great and eminent men are both educational and inspirational.

There is so much to read and learn and books are so easily available these days that there is no excuse for anyone being unread. Public libraries are so convenient and librarians are prepared to recommend a course of reading that will be interesting and conducive to one's particular needs. Money spent for books is well spent, provided they are chosen wisely for their contents and not their bindings. A book is never out of place as a gift, and is one that is welcomed by almost everyone.

SHEEP OR MONKEYS?

We wish to take no part in the controversy over the theory of evolution, but if there were one thing that would lead to the belief that man is related to the monkey it would be his tendency to imitate. Let someone start a foolish style or custom and we are all following it before night. We do not know why, but it is just natural for us to imitate. Someone has called this our sheep nature. So few of us have initiative or the qualities of leadership. We blindly follow the leaders.

When the Prince of Wales was about to land on his recent trip to this country he turned down his hat brim in front to protect him from newspaper cameras. Now all the young men in New York are wearing their hat brims turned down in front. Men are as great offenders (if this may be termed an offense) as women in slavishly following styles and customs.

Anyway, bad luck makes good conversation.

THE WRONG KID!

Blood Marriage

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A Paris man by the name of Javorski, after a year of patient experiments, announces that there is hope of rejuvenation in what is called a blood marriage.

Collette, said to be the most Parisian of the Parisiennes, and one of the most successful and witty authors of today, has offered her own charm as the proof of the efficacy of this method. She was to have presented as proof an old Billygoat whose change from listless decrepitude to playful juvenility she had watched, but the city to which the animal belonged refused to allow her to take it away.

She says, however, that she has undergone the treatment and presents herself as one of Javorski's first human patients. She had begun to get old, or at least to feel weary and worried, and now she has regained all her first physical and intellectual vigor on account of Dr. Javorski's blood marriage.

This consists of infusing a few drops from a young, healthy body into that of an older subject and is said to work a kind of miracle. It restores vitality, renews cellular activity and cures certain diseases, like sclerosis. There must be a certain affinity between the giver and the patient, however.

Dr. Javorski declares that the human cell ought to be immortal. It is yet too early to guarantee prolongation of life, but he holds that his system will certainly add beauty and youth and the joy of living to those who are getting old. The search for the Fountain of Eternal Youth is an old one, and it bids fair now to be transferred from the region of romance to that of science.

It is certain that if Dr. Javorski's method is successful it will put many beauty shops out of business.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as rather an unfavorable day, for, while Neptune is in benefic aspect, the Sun, Mars and Saturn are adverse and wielding sinister influence.

Again those who deal in oil or any by-products are subject to the best possible direction of the stars. New uses for gasoline are foretold, and evidently prices are to fluctuate with a strong tendency to ascend.

This should be a fortunate day for shopping, for the judgment is likely to be good, and for that reason little disappointment may be expected on the part of purchasers.

There is, despite the clarity of vision that is imparted by certain aspects, a tendency to be impulsive and over-confident while this configuration prevails.

The best part of the day for executive work is right after the noon hour, and the time until 3 o'clock should be fairly lucky.

The Moon enters Cancer this evening, from June 21 to July 21—should experience marked changes in luck, all of them for the better.

Bond issues and loans are to be much discussed by Congress, which is to have a stormy time immediately after the holidays.

There is a sign presaging an unusual number of deaths among men distinguished in the legal profession and the ministry.

Disasters or delays at sea may be looked for at this position of the stars.

The lunation of the month tends to strengthen the position of the governing powers, although there will be strong opposition on the part of legislators.

Women are still subject to rather adverse direction of the stars and should delay any important work in the way of pushing big enterprises.

Old lovers, instead of new romances, should benefit at this time when the stars incline toward a strengthening of domestic relations.

Persons whose birthdate it is have rather a troublesome year before them in which they may travel and perhaps quarrel with business associates.

Children born on this day are likely to be thoughtful, studious and talented. These subjects of Sagittarius usually have mechanical as well as artistic facility.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

10 Years Ago

R. T. Philp, 235 Orange street, leaves tonight for San Diego, where he has been transferred by the Pacific Hardware and Steel Co. of Los Angeles to their store in San Diego.

S. W. Corwin is erecting a fine modern house for John Barr Valley View road. The new structure is to be located on North Brand boulevard across from beautiful La Ramada and is a very choice location for a home.

Seven years ago, December 12, the Holy Family Catholic church had its beginning. This week the church and Rev. James F. O'Neill, founder and parish priest, will celebrate the seventh anniversary.

Do You Know

One motion picture house in Palermo, Italy, has made a hit by showing films from America exclusively.

Strasbourg, France, is to have a new artificial silk plant that will cost $3,000,000.

Canned condensed milk from cows of this country is increasing in favor in Europe.

Ice cream eaten in this country every year totals 300,000,000 gallons.

Who's Who

Perhaps no man elected to a seat in the national house of representatives for the first time is more widely known than Brooks Fletcher of Marion, O., Democrat. For years he was owner and editor of a newspaper rival of the late President Harding's Marion Star and a warm personal friend of Mr. Harding.

Fletcher will represent President Harding's own congressional district, the Eighth.

Fletcher is a Chautauqua lecturer who has delivered more than 6000 addresses. Nearly 2,000,000 people have paid to hear him, nearly that many more have heard him for nothing.

Fletcher is a fighter. A native of Carroll county, O., his life story reads like a page plucked from fiction—farm hand, laborer in the steel mills, salesman in a hardware store, waiter in a restaurant, winner of honors as an athlete in college, honor man in oratory, chosen to represent his college in intercollegiate contests, newspaper circulation solicitor, then advertising director of that newspaper, later reporter, then business manager and editor, and finally owner.

The congressman-elect is a scholar, business man, organizer and a leader of men, educator and author.

Fletcher, now 48, was graduated from Mount Union college at Alliance.

Today's Poem

MORALITY

We cannot kindle when we will
The fire which in the heart reveals
In mystery our soul abides.
But tasks in hours of insight
Will find
Can be through hours of gloom
fulfill'd.

With aching hands and bleeding feet
We dig and heap, lay stone on stone;
We bear the burden and the heat
Of the long day and wish 'twere done.

Not till the hours of light return,
All we have built do we discern.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

As the country, so the proverbs, is a German proverb. As the proverb, so the people, is truer. The proverbs of a country reveal its temperament like a book.

This column (Number 2 of a series) is devoted today to proverbs from the German:

Luck follows the hopeful, ill luck the fearful.

Talking is easier than doing, and promising than performing.

Chickens are slow in coming from unlaied eggs.

A lie becomes true when one believes it.

Every woman loves the woman in the looking-glass.

When the eyes see the heart believes.

They must be strong legs that can support prosperous days.

He who gives quickly gives doubly.

Who accepts nothing has nothing to return.

Compliments cost nothing yet many pay dearly for them.

It is easier to give good counsel than to follow it.

Could everything be done twice everything would be done better.

How wise of God to plan death at the end of life.

Everybody knows good counsel except him who has need of it.

No one so old he may not live a year, none so young that he may not die today.

Confidence begets confidence. Who would be young in age must in youth be sage.

A drop of honey catches more flies than a hoghead of vinegar. A golden bit does not make the horse any better.

Whom fortune favors the world favors.

To break in a young horse requires an old rider.

No greater harmony exists than where heart and mouth are in unison.

Income Tax Publicity Case Again Reopened

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Upon the finding that a technicality voided the original proceedings brought against the New York Tribune Company, Inc., to test the law concerning the publication of income tax returns, the federal grand jury handed up a new indictment against the corporation so that the whole matter might be taken for decision to the United States supreme court. The first jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

California Tax Levies Are $103,804,583.29

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—General tax levies of California counties for the current year aggregate $103,804,583.29, an increase of $7,602,925.26 over last year, State Controller Ray L. Riley announced today. Main increases are for general fund purposes and for education, the controller's statement said.

Quality Radio Hears Orchestra In Chicago

"Shut your eyes and imagine you are sitting in the Drake hotel, Chicago," said C. C. Richards of the Quality Radio Co., as he tuned in a receiving set at his store, 117 West Broadway, and with the same clarity as though one were sitting beside the musicians the Drake hotel orchestra was heard. Mr. Richards also brought in Edgewater beach, Chicago, and later got Memphis, Tenn.

A shipment of Workrite Chum 3-tube reflexed neodyne sets has been received by Mr. Richards and is ready for Christmas delivery. This set, he said, is fully equal to 4-tube sets with all the ease and clarity of reception for which the neodyne is noted, and will easily receive stations within a thousand miles.

Higher Death Rate Reported For Past Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Despite the onward march of science and medicine, the American mortality rate last year was higher than the year before, the department of commerce announced today. In 1922 the rate was 11.8 per thousand; last year it climbed to 12.3. Only seven states, six of them in the far west, showed lower mortality rates for 1923 than for 1922. These were Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, Washington and South Carolina.

Confirms Report S. P. Seeking to Buy Line

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Hugh Neill, secretary of the Southern Pacific, confirmed reports that the Southern Pacific Co. has made formal application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to buy the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad. This is a 729 mile road, linking up a number of important cities in Texas, including Houston, San Antonio and Waco, and its acquisition will give the new owners access to these and other strategic points along the line.

Firemen's Annual Ball And Benefit Tonight

Glendale's Fireman's Relief association will hold its annual benefit ball tonight in the hall at 323 North Brand boulevard. Members and friends are invited. Dancing begins at 8:30 o'clock. Music will be furnished by Eddie Monoi's orchestra. Miss V. Stoops will give a character dance. Captain John D. Meyer is general chairman. Tickets will be on sale at the door. Special prizes will be awarded.

Reports of Battle In South America Heard

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 11.—Reports have reached here of a battle between Brazilian and Uruguayan troops at Cerro Chateau on the frontier. It can be stated that the Fifth regiment of Uruguayan cavalry took part and that there was one death in the Brazilian forces. Many soldiers are said to have been wounded. Censorship transmission of complete details of the battle.

Freight Shipments on Missouri Pacific Big

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 11.—The freight movement on the Missouri Pacific in November was the heaviest in history. The amount of cotton moved totalled 5,766 cars an increase of 70 per cent over 1923. Local loadings increased 10 per cent. There were 1,005,632 cars handled in the last eleven months, exceeding by 150,000 the high year of 1917.

Hot Water Heater Is Cause of Small Blaze

Fire attributed to an over-high flame in a hot water heater in the frame house at 210 West Hawthorne street, occupied by M. E. Wheeler, was extinguished by the fire department yesterday. The blaze was extinguished at a loss estimated by Captain J. D. Meyer, in charge, to be small.

Packers Report Cost Of Products Higher

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Despite record receipts of 400,000 hogs during the last week with prices down 75 cents per hundred pounds cost of pork products are showing additional strength, packers report. This is due, they say, to poor showing of animals received which dress out with less meat per animal. There is no export business of consequence.

Xmas Novelty Gifts on Display at Armstrong's

A display of unique and individual Christmas gifts is being made by the Armstrong studio, 120 North Adams St., comprising handpainted parchment and silk, lamp shades, cushions and interior decorations. Mrs. Armstrong is known as a capable artist and is a member of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Mabel Moore to Address Success Club

Mrs. Mabel Moore will speak at 8 o'clock tonight before the Success club, meeting at 113 South Orange street, on "The Value of Decision." There will be music.

USING MUCH GOLD
Although India has a reputation as a silver-using and silver-hoarding country, natives of that big country are so wedded to old customs that a great deal of gold has to be imported to take care of the demand for wedding gifts, jewelry, gold trinkets and all sorts of gold plate. One steamer recently carried nearly $2,000,000 in the yellow metal alone, and while some of it was needed to help finance the large cotton crop,

CHURCH MUSICAL PLANNED TONIGHT

Presbyterian Church Will Hear Women's Glee Club of L. A.

Glendale music lovers will hear a program of music at the Glendale Presbyterian church tonight at 8 o'clock given by the Women's Glee club of the Los Angeles Bible Institute. The club will appear under the auspices of the Young Mothers' class of the Glendale Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. H. H. Wiebe is president.

The Glee club will be accompanied by the Girls' Ukulele orchestra of eight members. Herbert Tobie, director of the club and well known in Southern California, will render a baritone solo. Selections by the Gospel quartette, and solo numbers will be included in the program.

Republicans Appoint Libraries Committee

A committee on public libraries consisting of Mrs. E. W. Hayward, Miss Ida Myers, J. C. Sherer and Councilman S. S. Gilhuly has been appointed by President R. S. Person of the Glendale Republican club, its duty to keep informed on the character of literature and current periodicals that go into the public libraries, according to President Person. He declared: "The committee is splendidly qualified to render a valuable service in respect to this important branch of the public service. Next to the public schools the public library has more points of contact with the community than any other single institution, and it is the desire of the Republican club through this committee, to stimulate interest in this service for its wholesome effect upon the community at large."

Oakmont Golf Course Extended Nine Holes

Oakmont Country club's official paper "The Squeak" announces work is progressing on the second nine holes of the golf course. Three fairways are ready to be seeded and two more are cleared of grapevines and rocks. Construction of the first tee and traps and green for the first hole of the second nine is under way and will be completed by December 10. The new tennis courts will be ready December 20.

Reports from the club predict that Mrs. A. L. Baird will win the Lem Davis golf trophy. She already has defeated the field twice and her score of ninety-nine for the last match, gives her lead.

Shanghai, China, has a brass band in peace times.

12 Billion Assessment On Property In State

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—Actual value of all property in California subject to city and county taxation is assessed at $12,125,970,808 in a report issued today by the State Board of Equalization. Taxes to be collected for 1924 will total $219,468,000, showing a rate of $1.81 per $100 full value of property, according to M. D. Lack, secretary of the state board. The tax rate in 1922 was $1.79. Distribution of these actual values, said Lack, is as follows:

Real estate in cities $3,599,149,596; improvements in cities $2,489,741,501; personal property, money and credits in cities $1,407,363,219; all property outside cities $4,627,696,492; actual total value $12,125,970,492.

Average ratio of assessed value to actual value in the state as a whole is 45.6, indicating that property actually worth $1,000 is assessed at $465 for taxation.

Merger Seen In Action By Development Bodies

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—Consolidation of Sacramento Valley Development association with the California Development association will probably result from negotiations started at the annual convention of the latter organization now in progress here, it was announced today. Plans for the merger were made by W. A. Beard, president of the Valley association in conference with Norman H. Sloane, general manager of the state body.

Steel Sales Jump Big Percentage In Month

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation increased 506,699 tons between October 31 and November 30, according to the monthly report of the corporation today. Forward orders on the books of the corporation on November 30 amounted to 4,031,949 tons against 3,525,270 on October 31, and 3,473,780 on September 30, 1924. On November 30 of last year unfilled tonnage amounted to 4,368,584.

CHAPTER LXII

"You'd better not tell me anything more, Grant," Lord Yeovil decided, a little gravely, though there was a twinkle of delight in his eyes. "This sort of thing is outside the sphere of practical politics. All I can say is that, whatever you did, I personally am convinced that you did it for the best—and I thank you."

"What I did," Grant said earnestly, "I did incidentally for the sake of the world's peace, but chiefly for the sake of my own country. We're only halfway through the trouble, yet, though. The invitation may be sent. As yet it isn't accepted."

"I hope to God it will be!" was the fervent response. "If it isn't, I tell you, Grant, no man, even though he had the tongue of a god and all the angels, will be able to induce any future meeting of the Pact to send another invitation."

"I realize that absolutely," Grant acquiesced. "I can assure you of one thing. All that stands for the best in my country will be in favor of accepting, but there is a great deal there that stands for the worst. There will be plots, and bribery, and intrigue, any quantity of it. And yet we are going to win. The invitation shall be accepted."

A servant brought in cocktails and Grant was easily persuaded to stay and dine. "I shan't change," his prospective host told him. "You can send for your things if you like, or change afterwards if you are going on anywhere. What I want you to do is to sit down in that easy-chair, and tell me—unofficially, mind—the whole story of your adventures on the yacht."

Grant lit a cigarette and accepted the invitation. "When we all wished one another goodbye this morning," he said, "I had to pinch myself metaphorically to realize that I wasn't dreaming. The whole thing seemed too improbable and fantastic. However, here's the story."

The dinner given by Cornelius Blunn was the most talked-of function of a very brilliant Riviera season. The writing room on the left of the lounge at the Hotel de Paris had been transformed into a private banquet apartment, at one end of which a small stage had been erected for artists who came from Nice and even Cannes to entertain the guests, and whose fees were a record in munificence. Despite the slight formality of the opening stages of the gathering owing to the presence of the Scandinavian monarch, the keynote to the whole party seemed to be set and adequately maintained by Blunn himself—reckless, brilliant, light-heartedness. Gertrude sat on his right, jealously watched from across the table by her husband. Grant, with curious disregard for precedence, was seated at her other side. On Blunn's left was a lady of royal birth, whose exploits had been the talk of Europe—a woman still beautiful and witty, who was supposed to be devoting the remainder of her years and a portion of her colossal fortune to the entertainment of a monarch who sat on her left. Lord Yeovil, persuaded to be present with great difficulty, at the last moment, was in the vicinity, with the Princess Lutrecht for a neighbor. Several of the Monte Carlo notables in addition to the originally invited guests were present. There was no one there who did not acknowledge the genius of Blunn as a host. Europe had been sought for gastronomic delicacies. Wines were served which had become little more than a memory. The greatest violinist known lifted them all, for a moment, into the rare atmosphere of the world to which he held the pass-key. The most popular humorist in Paris offered the wittiest creations of his brain.

The only person who seldom smiled was Gertrude. She had already been accepted in the little principality as the reigning beauty of the season, but her appearance tonight had created a positive sensation. She had justified to the fullest extent the old contention that beauty is not a permanent and unchanging thing, but an effect of chance, an evanescent quality, possessed one minute and gone the next. This might have been the moment of her life. She seemed to carry with her a nameless and unanalyzable perfection of grace, of figure—all those nameless qualities which come so wonderfully to the aid of features not perfect in form. The violet of her eyes was disarming. Even the slightest fatigue which was sometimes apparent in her languid tones seemed to bring her distinction. Susan, at the first sight of her, and more than once since, had been conscious of a little sinking of the heart. It seemed

PITTS PLAYERS

"Nomads of the North" continues at the tent theatre of Pitts Players, San Fernando boulevard at Cedar street, Burbank. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock nightly. The play deals with life in the Canadian north woods, and is of the virile type.

The cast of "Nomads of the North" is made up of professional actors, and is largely the same aggregation that appeared last week in "The Crimson Nemesis." The management announces that ample parking space has been secured to care for the cars of all patrons, and that many conveniences have been provided for the comfort of the audience.

THE T. D. &amp; L.

Impossible that any man could look at her without desire. Grant himself was moved by the unfamiliar side of her beauty—the beauty which, for this one evening, seemed to have taken to itself a certain appeal, a helplessness, a demand for something which perhaps no one else but he could realize. Once or twice, at a whispered word from her, he had his pulses leap as in the old days, had felt, indeed, some touch of the old folly back again—the folly of which he had deemed himself purged. He had permitted himself to think for one moment of a few nights ago when she had stood on the edge of the quay, looking down to the yacht, looking wistfully at the gang-plank, passage across which he had so strenuously forbidden. It had been comparatively easy then. He wondered whether any man in the world would have found it easy now.

"Are you quite at your best tonight, Grant, or is it my fancy?" she asked, during a pause in the conversation. "If I am not," he rejoined, "it is because you surpass your best." "Almost for the first time she laughed happily. There was real meaning in his tone and it was the sort of speech for which she craved.

THE GATEWAY

The Foreign Legion! What a glamorous thrill, what an epitome of adventure, what swift-winged flights of imagination those three dauntless words flaunt before our tranquil lives. Three words whose full significance seems to have been vividly plucked from the ideally symbolic tricolor of France itself, and planted in the corner of a foreign land that is forever all the world's own monument to courage.

It is about this intrepid legionnaires, recruited from the far corners of the earth, and of whom it is said: "The folds of their flag are not broad enough to hold their claims to glory," that the new Paramount picture, "Wages of Virtue" is woven—or, rather, about Carmelita, beautiful young daughter of the regiment.

Gloria Swanson plays Carmelita, an Italian girl, who becomes the pride of the Legion. It's at the Gateway theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Wages of Virtue," adapted to the screen by Forrest Halsey from the novel by Percival Wren, is a heart-rending romance of an Algerian barrack town. Carmelita is rescued from death by Luigi, strong man with a small traveling side-show. He kills a man over love for the girl and joins the Foreign Legion to escape punishment for his crime. The girl, with absolute faith in him, follows and opens a cafe in town.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Only 38" will be presented again tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre by the Dobinson Players as a benefit for the local American Legion post, curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock. The play is from the pen of A. E. Thomas, one of the most popular dramatists in America, and deals with the lighter aspects of college life. It is noted for its comedy situations and clever characterization. Included in the exceptional cast of "Only 38" are Gertrude Kellar, Olaf Hytten, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, William H. Stephens, Thyra Ruhland, Gertrude Rothe, Richard Ehlers and George C. Pearce. Among some of the Glendadians appearing in the college scene are Helen Anderson, Winifred Anderson, Edwards Rothe, Harry Glazier, Maurice Widdows and Harold Treffry.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BAG OF LEAVES

"Uncle Wiggily, you simply will have to do something about them!" called Miss Fuzzy Wuzzie, the muskrat lady housekeeper, to the rabbit gentleman one day.

"Do something about what, or whom?" asked Mr. Longears, as he finished his breakfast of waffles and pancakes in the hollow stump bungalow. "Have the Bob Cat and Weasel come to bother you?"

"No, it isn't of them I am speaking," went on Nurse Jane. "It is about the dried leaves that are blowing all over our front yard. See, the wind is swirling the leaves all over. Can't you do something about them?"

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose as he looked out and watched the dried leaves playing tag and hide-and-go-seek and blind man's buff and other games.

"I suppose I could rake them up and put them in a bag," he said at last. "Putting the leaves in a bag and hiding the bag under the front stoop would be a good way."

"Then, please do it," begged Nurse Jane. "I can't have the leaves blowing all over the yard. It looks quite untidy."

So the rabbit gentleman took the rake and began gathering the dried leaves into a heap that he might stuff them into an old potato bag.

"Oh, dear!" sighed the leaves to themselves as they were being raked up. "When we were green on the trees every one loved us, and said how beautiful we were. But now we are old and dried up and no one cares for us any more. They want to get rid of us."

Uncle Wiggily was so busy raking the leaves that he did not think how sad it might be for them to be gathered and hidden away. Into the bag the bunny stuffed the dried leaves, and then he went in the bungalow to find a piece of cord to tie around the mouth of the bag to keep the leaves from spilling.

When Uncle Wiggily hopped out again and looked at the bag of leaves, he was much surprised to see it moving. It twisted this way and that way and even seemed to crawl along the ground.

"This is queer!" whispered the rabbit. "The wind isn't strong enough to move the bag of leaves. The leaves can't move themselves without wind. I know! The Woozie Wolf has crawled inside the bag of leaves, and when I go to tie them up he'll jump out at me. But I'll fool that Wolf! I'll empty the leaves and when the Wolf pops out I'll throw stones at him."

Uncle Wiggily gathered a pile of stones. All the while the bag of leaves was moving about in a queer way. The bunny took hold of one corner of the bag and cried:

"Come out of there, you bad Wolf!"

He shook the bag and out came an old mud turtle gentleman! "Dear me!" slowly said the turtle gentleman. "I thought I had found a good warm place where I could crawl in to spend the winter. Don't you want me in your leaves, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Why, of course I do," answered the bunny. "I didn't know it was you in the bag of leaves, making them jiggle. I thought it was the Wolf. Of course you may use the bag of leaves for your bed."

So the bunny raked up the leaves again, put them in the bag

MOTORISTS INTERESTED IN ACQUISITION OF PARKS

AUTOISTS ARE WARNED FOR XMAS RUSH

State Association Asks Motorists to Co-operate During Holidays

In view of the additional congestion on the highways that may be expected during the approaching holidays, the Automobile Club of Southern California urges all motorists to exercise extreme care in driving during the next few weeks. There is not only likelihood of slippery streets from rain, but there is a large amount of extra trading, social visits, crowds on the streets, all bringing an attendant increase in hazards of the highways.

Accidents are doubly deplorable in the Yuletide season when all the world is most joyous, and the big motoring organization, in the hope of keeping the holidays happy suggests the following ten commandments be kept constantly in mind by the more than half a million persons who will be driving the next few weeks in Southern California.

Always remember you are an engineer, fully responsible.

Always test your brakes when starting and have them inspected frequently.

Never Pass Street Car

Never pass a street car when it is stopping, or, if the law permits, proceed very slowly past it at the legal distance.

Exercise special care in crossing in front of a street car or in passing it, as you cannot tell what may be coming on the other side.

Always signal with hand when slowing down, turning or stopping, even though you have an automatic or mechanical device.

Look before you back and sound the horn three times.

Try to drive with using the horn as little as possible. A sudden noise may stop pedestrians in their tracks rather than warning them.

Accidents Not Lessened By Any Excuses

An excuse is a poor relief in an automobile accident. An excuse does not mend an injured limb, bring the dead to life, or repair property damage. An excuse does not ease the conscience of the driver of an automobile which figures in an accident, no matter how plausible the excuse may be. The public wants safety—not excuses. A safe driver never has to make excuses for his driving. Safe driving constitutes the application of common sense, obedience to the rules of the road, and the traffic laws, and perfection in the fine art of being a gentleman, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

OWN BODIES MADE FOR STUDEBAKERS

Double Advantage Seen by Motoring Public; Best Work Assured

Local exhibition of the new Studebaker models is bringing home to motorists with new force the fact that Studebaker manufactures its bodies and cars complete, in its own plants, according to Don Packer, of the Packer Motor Co., Glendale Studebaker distributors, Brand and Colorado boulevards.

"Well-informed car owners have long recognized the fact, in which Studebaker is unique among the large builders of fine cars, but it is more strikingly apparent this year than ever before to the car-buying public at large," he said. "Development of the new Studebaker Duplex bodies was made possible by the fact that all Studebaker bodies are designed by Studebaker experts, working and thinking for Studebaker alone, and that the actual building is done in Studebaker's own modern, completely equipped $10,000,000 body plants."

"The new Studebaker models present striking beauty of appearance and finish, in which there is an instantly apparent note of originality. This is notable not alone in the longer lines, new lamps and fenders, higher radiators and sides on lower-hung bodies, but even in the finish and color schemes. Enthusiastic comment upon their beauty is heard everywhere."

The life net used by fire departments was the invention of an acrobat following the death of his brother in a fall while performing.

SPEED TESTS PROVE TIME NOT SAVED

Demonstrations Are Made by Auto Club on Streets Of Los Angeles

When you try to go fast in traffic you really are gaining nothing, according to a series of tests made by scouts of the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California through the congested districts of Los Angeles.

These demonstrated that it is extremely doubtful if the time saved by hurrying and exceeding the speed limit pays for the extra gasoline used and the brake lining worn by the drivers trying to cut down time. Not only is the time saved fractional, but the hurrying motorist endangers not only his own life and car, but thousands of other lives and tens of thousands of automobiles.

Records of scouting cars that were operated on three different routes through the city limits of Los Angeles furnished these conclusions. In order to make the tests impartial and accurate each route was first traversed at highest speed possible and yet escape arrest, the car exceeding the limit in fifteen and twenty mile zones in five miles wherever possible, and taking advantage of every occasion to make time. The same driver went over the same route a second time, observing speed laws absolutely and conforming strictly to the mandates of the law and rules of safe and efficient driving.

Saving Is Small
A summary of these trips over different routes across the city and back again shows that the driver who hurried and endangered life, limb and property saved only a total of ten minutes out of two hours driving, or a fraction over five minutes to the hour. The total distance of the three routes across the city was 31.5 miles, or an average of 10.5 miles to the trip. The showing a saving of five minutes, another three minutes, and the other two minutes.

Police department officials and traffic experts from these test point out that in driving to save a possible five minutes over a ten mile trip, drivers are using extra gasoline, wearing out brake linings, throwing courtesy to the winds, risking arrest with a fine or jail sentence, and inviting accidents, not only to their own cars and persons, but forcing hazards in the way of thousands of other cars and threatening limb and life of pedestrians, many of whom are children.

These tests were the first to be made in Los Angeles and seem to prove convincingly that high speed in congested districts is not only a highly dangerous practice from many standpoints, but is an economical loss.

OLDSMOBILES TO APPEAR IN SHOWS

Models Displayed In Many Exhibits Since First Days of Industry

Oldsmobile will exhibit at virtually every automobile show and salon during the 1925 season, starting with the twenty-fifth silver jubilee exhibit opening in New York on January 2, according to C. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, Glendale, Oldsmobile dealer.

While figures are not available, Mr. Hunter says the factory feels justified in making the claim it has been represented at more auto shows than any other manufacturer. The Oldsmobile Motor works claims to be the oldest automobile manufacturing company operating today, having been formed in 1897, and the first year real productions started, 1900, saw 1400 of the little curved dash one-cylinder Oldsmobiles built and sold.

"These exhibits perform the same function for the automotive industry as do central markets and department stores in other lines of trade," said Thomas O'Brien, assistant sales manager of Oldsmobile Motor Works. "By means of the shows the public is given an opportunity to indulge in its natural desire to shop around and see what is being offered. Many persons dislike shopping along 'automobile row' owing to their being importuned by salesmen every time they enter a show room. At the show, however, they can look to their heart's content and see just what the motor industry has to offer them."

2-Cent Tax On Gas Opposed By Standard

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The state tax on gasoline is an unfair and inequitable levy on motorists, as it forces a minority of the people to pay for improvements that are shared by the people as a whole, the Standard Oil bulletin, issued by the Standard Oil Co., says in an editorial today. The company has announced it intends to oppose a proposed increase of the present 2 cents on a gallon tax.

"In California there is one car to every 3.5 or 4 people in the state," the editorial says. "Under the new tax proposal between 25 per cent and 30 per cent of the people would pay for improvements of obvious benefit to all the rest of the people, who pay nothing. Good roads inevitably benefit all. They increase business in towns, enhance property values in the country, or wherever they pass."

HAWAIIANS MAKE FIGHT FOR RIGHT

Oriental Born There To Ask Right To Pass To Mainland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A determined fight is to be made by Japanese and other Orientals born in Hawaii for the right to pass, without interference, to the mainland of the United States, it was revealed in the annual report of Governor Farrington, made to the secretary of the interior.

American citizens of Oriental ancestry are now subjected to what appears to citizens of Hawaii as discrimination, the report stated. These Oriental citizens, whose number is steadily increasing, will lay their claims before the President in the near future, in an effort to secure privileges of free travel in all parts of continental United States.

The report stated general health and industrial conditions have been satisfactory throughout the year, with the two largest industries, sugar and pineapple, producing the largest crops on record, which have been sold at fair prices.

Total trade between the Territory and the mainland of the United States amounted to $178,816,499. Hawaii sold products to the mainland valued at $103,000,000, and bought from the mainland centers products valued at $69,000,000. Hawaii's trade with foreign countries amounted to $10,575,289.

Production of coffee, the third largest industry, brought in a return of $744,511.

Deposits in territorial banks totaled $56,495,762. Savings and counts were $23,238,360, the largest total in the history of the Territory, the report stated. Hawaii's population was placed at 307,160, or an increase of approximately 51,000 since the 1920 Federal census.

Men's Sunday Suits In Discard Today, Report

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Where is the Sunday suit of yesterday? Gone the way of low-cut waistcoats, padded shoulders, horsehair sofas and the family picture album, William Hobart Weintraub, director of the "Dress Well and Succeed Campaign," told a group of business men in Chicago.

The Sunday suit has put up a game fight and, in some remote parts of the country districts, is still being worn beneath the mattress on Sabbath morning for its weekly outing. But it is losing even out there.

"One reason for the exodus of the Sunday suit is the common-sense realization that if a new suits takes its turn with other clothes it wears longer, Mr. Weintraub said.

Big Black Bass Stops Delaware Mill Wheels

DOVER, Del., Dec. 11.—August Jensen's flour mill at Reynolds, Del., came to a sudden stop. There was plenty of water in the pond, but the wheel refused to turn.

Jensen made an investigation and found that the mill wheel had been stopped by a huge black bass that had been drawn into the race and wheel. The fish weighed just about ten pounds and eight ounces.

Commercial airplanes flew more than 1,004,000 miles and carried 15,012 passengers last year.

AUTO ACCESSORY AS XMAS PRESENT

Equipment Adds Comfort, Pleasure to Motoring Trips Everywhere

The one family possession which every member of the family enjoys, from baby to grandma, is the automobile. It doesn't matter so much if it's old or if it's new, so long as the motor runs 365 days in the year and there is room for all.

But, in spite of the good times the family enjoys on Sunday excursions or week-end trips, there is usually one fly in the ointment—the car doesn't always have all the equipment necessary to give the maximum of comfort and service.

So there is the solution to your problem, "What shall we give the So-and-So's for Christmas?" Give accessories—something that the entire family will enjoy, not only for the time being, but for years to come.

Plenty of Gifts

Gifts of every conceivable kind are included in the offerings featured at the Western Auto Supply Co. for the car owner. These gifts run the entire range of things both useful and ornamental for the adornment of the car. There is such an array of these accessories that it is extremely easy to select a gift that is practical. The prices, too, are varied, so that there is a suitable gift for every pocketbook. It is simply a matter of selecting some article of equipment that the car now lacks; no matter what this selection may be, it is certain that it will be appreciated—auto accessories gifts always are.

Among the most popular selections are such desirable gifts as motometers, clocks, cigar lighters, rear-view mirrors, windshield wipers, vases, gloves, spotlights, horns, robes and luncheon sets.

PALESTINE GOAL OF GOLD HUNTERS

Search for Captain Kidd Treasure Rivalled In German Expedition

JERUSALEM, Dec. 11.—A search for gold that rivals some of the expeditions that have sought the buried treasures of Captain Kidd, is in progress here, under the direction of the Palestine government.

Nearly half a million dollars in gold is alleged to have been buried in Palestine by members of the Turco-German headquarters staff before they fled from Jerusalem before the advance of General Allenby's forces.

German officers reported the burial of the treasure, and the German government knew that it would be seized as a prize of war if found, so a private German group was formed in Berlin, including some of the men who helped to bury the gold, to set out and rediscover the treasure and remove it from Palestine.

Searchers Detained
The German group purchased a site in Jemin, near the monument which has been erected to the fallen German soldiers, and was about to start work when British authorities learned of the venture from a German informant. The Palestine authorities are understood to have detained the searchers.

The government has announced that it has ordered excavation in the Jemin area, in search of the treasure; but thus far none of the gold has been discovered.

World's Tea-Drinking Champion Is England

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Great Britain holds the undisputed tea-consuming championship of the Western World. During the last twelve months the consumption reached the total of 8.61 pounds of tea per capita. Since a majority of the tea drinkers prefer the beverage sweetened, the sugar consumption, also, was high—72.12 pounds per capita.

Of the 384,067,308 pounds of tea imported into Great Britain during the last twelve months, English and Scottish co-operative wholesale societies, which flourished particularly under the Labor Government, handled one-seventh. They also handled one-seventh of the total of 28,718,865 hundred-weights of sugar imported during the same period.

SPEED LIMIT IN CANADA REMOVED

Motorists Resent Action of British Columbia Law Making Body

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 11.—Total abolition of the speed limit for automobiles in British Columbia has been decided on in the province legislature. Motorists will be permitted to drive their cars at whatever speed they please, but they must "drive in such manner as to avoid menace to the public safety."

The new regulation, motorists declare will be a lot worse for everyone than the fixed limitation. Automobile owners say, when driving in city traffic, they will be entirely at the mercy of any police officer who cares to lay a charge against them, "on general principles" while police and magistrates hold that arrested motorists will be more prone in future to fight charges of driving to the common danger, taking refuge in the fact that "weight of evidence" will influence the bench's decision.

Devil Couldn't Keep Shoplifters From Jail

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Mamie Andreu and Josephine Hallimo, charged with shoplifting, were arraigned before City Judge John T. Buckley. They told the court they were not bad, but that the devil was inside of them and prompted them to take the articles. In passing sentence Judge Buckley said:

"This devil is responsible for a lot of crime. I don't want to be hard on you so I'll sentence the devil to ten days in jail. As long as he is inside of you, I suppose you'll have to go along, too."

Give Children Every Chance To Get Across

When the public schools are dismissed for the Yuletide holidays, motorists will have to figure on thousands of little jay walkers on the streets, according to a warning issued by the Automobile Club of Southern California. Motorists are urged when approaching children to use the horn, but not to depend upon it to blow the kiddies off the street, or to replace the brake. When the children are trying to cross the street, motorists are asked to give them a chance and wait for them, as the average parent would like to have another motorist wait for someone who is near and dear to him. It is hoped that the suggestions will be observed by motorists at large so that the accidents among children due to motor vehicle accidents may be at a minimum during the holidays.

PROPERTY FOR PLEASURE IS ESSENTIAL

Legislature Will Consider District Plan to Vote Bonds for Land

By GIL A. COWAN
Written for The Evening News.
Within the last week announcement has been made that Los Angeles county, for a very substantial consideration, has purchased a thousand feet of ocean frontage north of Santa Monica for a bathing beach.

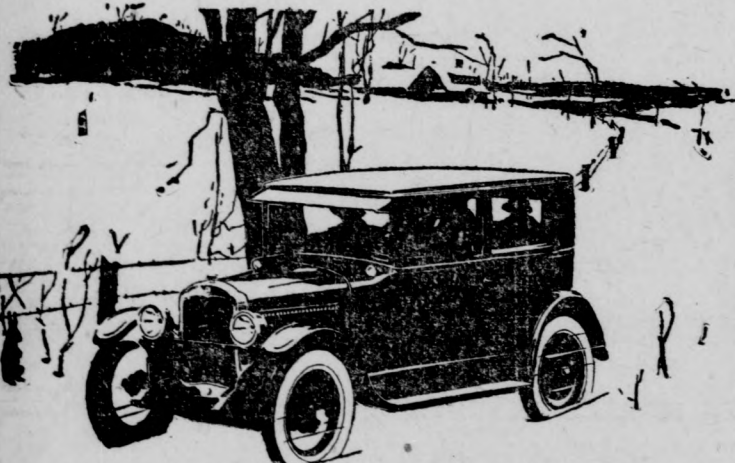

Owners of motor cars have a definite interest in the public acquisition of such tracts as these for park purposes. The next legislature will consider the district plan of Ventura, Los Angeles and Orange counties to vote bonds for the purchase of such property for pleasure.

Hugh Pomeroy, resident of Glendale, and secretary of the Los Angeles Regional Planning commission, is a prime factor in the organization of this district which has the hearty endorsement of the supervisors and other public and civic officials.

If the sale of pleasure cars is to continue both highways and parks are essential and it is time the motor car dealers, the motorists and potential motorists got behind such projects, if you will permit an editorial expression.

Bearing Tax Brunt
Highways are going to be a matter of much argument in Sacramento. Unfortunately the Auto club officials and others in the southland are learning that the seven southern counties are bearing the brunt of the gasoline tax, but they are not getting a commensurate return.

Test

shows how you can get 36% more tire mileage

In a test covering 410,000 miles, and including tires of various makes, representing fully 75% of all the tires used in the United States, one make surpassed all others in mileage by at least 20% and exceeded the average by 36%.

That make was Michelin.

There's a reason why twice as many Michelin Cords are being bought today as a year ago. They have proved they are the best tires and the news is spreading.

In the balloon field, too, Michelin is setting records. Over 1,000,000 Michelin Balloon Tires are now running—more than any other make.

DEALER SHOWING NEW COACH TYPE

Oakland Factory Puts Out Handsome Car, Body Is Made by Fisher

John Neuschaefer, 420 East Colorado boulevard, Oakland dealer, is now showing the Oakland coach, a brand new creation, with body by Fisher, representing a distinct development in coach craftsmanship. This new type is a strikingly handsome car, custom-built in appearance, with low sweeping lines, gracefully rounded corners and a distinctive color scheme in permanent Duco finish. "It has a full five passenger body, low hung and comfortable, and is as solid and rugged in construction as it is beautiful in lines," he said. "The body frame is of selected hardwood with precisely the same kind of construction as is used in the sedan, including complete bracing and full steel body panels. Metal is used for the back, not fabric. The body, hood and disc steel wheels are finished in sagebrush green with orange striping; the fenders, running gear and upper structure in black. The interior is lined in dark green upholstery of high grade worsted.

Plenty of Room
"Two large doors, 34 inches wide, permit of easy entrance, either from the right or left side. Front seats are of the Pullman type, heavily upholstered and folding forward to allow passengers an unobstructed passage to the rear seat.

"Roominess and unobstructed vision are two of the many outstanding features of this car. Two veritable vista of windows, two extremely large windows on each side, with the one-piece Fisher windshield in front, afford a range of vision that may be considered the maximum obtainable in a closed car.

"Automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, crank type quick action window lifts on doors and rear windows are included in the standard equipment in addition to the many other features of the Oakland chassis, such as four wheel brakes, centralized controls, five disc wheels and automatic spark control."

parative percentage of improvements. Governor Richardson also has apprised the public that he will not approve of "pork barrel" roads which are very difficult to distinguish in the particular district which they are designed to serve. To paraphrase the adage, "What is one's pork is another's poison."

More highways in southern California are "poison" to northern legislators who fail to realize that it is the dereliction of sparsely settled counties in the north, which do not vote county road bond issues, and not the dereliction of the state highway commission paving long stretches leading from one small community to another.

Suggests Program
These highways in the north, when built at the expense of the smaller and wealthier southern section (developed by man if not endowed by the Creator), are "poison" to the motoring public that stays south of the Tehachapi. There's where the rub comes.

The writer humbly suggests, knowing this state from Redding to Calexico, that a program be adopted which will satisfy both the north and the south and give time for the southern counties to show their spirit of cooperation by building a few roads for themselves.

First, let the legislature endorse a bond issue which will provide for three purposes:
1. The completion of a California shore line highway from the Oregon line to the Mexican border. A large amount of this work already is done, but the road is vital for national defense as well as scenic beauty.

2. The completion of paving of all transcontinental routes into California which will be of benefit to all sections of the state.
3. The building of the one most needed highway in central California.

The second action to be recommended the legislature would be the penny increase in gasoline tax for the maintenance of more highways already in custody of the state and a pro-rata of this tax for the benefit of county and city pavements' upkeep as at present.

Consider Future
True, this a broadminded view of the situation and one in which northern California, because of its larger area, would continue to get a lion's share of new highways built, but there is this one element to consider:

Tourists come to the southland from Oregon, Washington and Canada as well as the middle west. It is essential that the transcontinental highways for the latter, all save one or two leading to Los Angeles, be immediately paved if we are not to lose many motorists each winter.

The concessions made the northern part of the state will only make California more attractive to the motorist. Common sense should overrule petty jealousies and political pettiness.

If the writer is wrong in his assumptions, he stands to be corrected by the Auto Club of which he is a member; also, the California Highway committee, which is to report to the legislature, will have the pleasure and duty of recommending that which is actually to be done.

Try Glendale Merchants first.

charged for such a flood-controlled project and are getting "just an ordinary street." He protested strongly against the contentions of the city, declaring that only property owners abutting Sycamore Canyon road and a few directly benefited by the improvement should have to stand the cost of the work. He scored the assessment district outlined by the City Council as unjust and illegal.

"An employee of the city admitted to me only two days ago that the assessment district was formed illegally, that one resolution was used at the outset and another substituted later," Mr. Belcher concluded.

Hardly had the meeting been opened by President James C. Leitch of the Improvement association, when Theodore Fleischmann, 701 South Adams street, launched into an orgy of ridicule of Mayor Spencer Robinson and the council.

"We have a wonderful singing mayor, but singing isn't what is necessary. We are tired of being turned away with a song when we go to the city hall for right and justice. We crave action," stormed Mr. Fleischmann. "If several hundred determined property owners pounce upon the honorable mayor and demand their rights, he will come to realize he has something more than an opera troupe to guide."

Mr. Fleischmann proceeded to predict that, unless satisfactory action is taken by the council, "they will have a slim chance of ever being re-elected."

It was reasoned by one speaker that Sycamore Canyon road was paved as a flood control measure, but that if it is not used for carrying the canyon waters, there is no justification for the present assessment district.

"Why, under these circumstances, are we being taxed?" he queried.

"Because every dollar they (the council) take out of your pocket, they don't have to take out of their own," was the answer shouted by Mr. Belcher.

The audience indicated that it favored the tunnel plan for diverting flood waters to the Verdugo wash, when they roundly applauded the remarks of N. L. Duncan, 133 North Verdugo road, who declared he could see no reason for carrying a "river" through the city when it could be diverted by means of the tunnel.

ONE-MAN DASH TO POLE IS PLANNED

Young Iclander to Make For North Point In Airplane

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Grettfir Algarsson, young Iclander explorer, who recently took an exploration party to the Arctic Circle, announces that next year he proposes to make a sensational one-man dash for the North Pole in a high-powered airplane from a small base-ship 600 miles away.

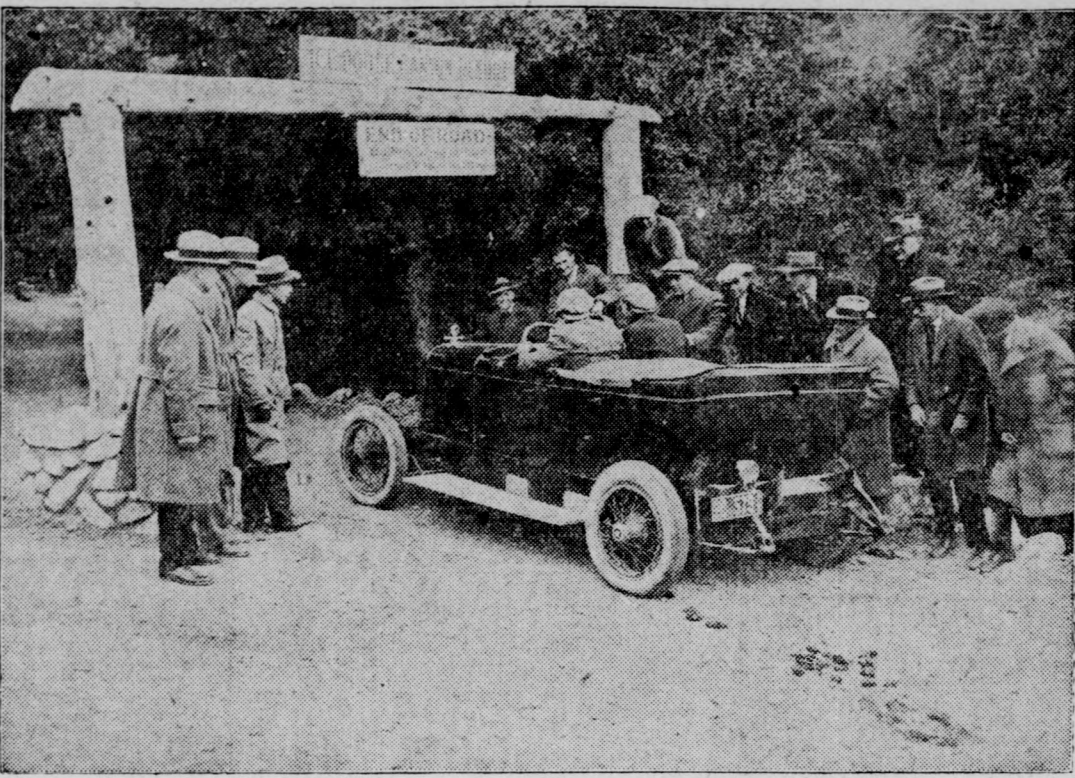

He will sail from London about May 1 in the eighty-foot steam drifter Aduna the Fair and will carry, besides the airplane in which he proposes to make his attempt, a small launch, sledges, and scientific instruments worth $100,000.

Object of Expedition
"The main object of my expedition is to discover islands believed to exist between Spitzbergen and Franz Joseph Land. This will be undertaken by the ship, which I shall leave when about six hundred miles distant from the North Pole," Algarsson said in an interview.

"The airplane which I propose to use is a development of the small, high-powered machines now being extensively used in England. It will carry fuel for 1,300 flying miles. It will also carry a wireless set, weighing only half a pound for the reception of weather reports. I think that I have a good chance of succeeding in reaching the Pole."

Cleveland Six Sets Record

This shows the stock Cleveland Six, handled in Glendale by Smith Bros., 1119 South Brand, which established a new world's record on Mt. Wilson in northern California, then came south and hung up a new world's record on Mt. Wilson, performing in high gear.

round for the reception of weather reports. I think that I have a good chance of succeeding in reaching the Pole."

Fresh from its laurels won in establishing a world's speed record on Mt. Diablo in northern California on November 3, and a world's speed record on Mt. Wilson on November 20, the Cleveland Six has again performed the seemingly impossible by establishing a world's speed and high gear record on Mt. Baldy, when an absolutely stock Cleveland Six touring car from the establishment of the W. P. Herbert Co., and piloted by Ralph Mulford, climbed to the end of the Mt. Baldy road in Icehouse canyon last Tuesday morning in the record time of 14 minutes, 31 3-5 seconds, shattering the former record by 2 minutes, 18 4-5 seconds.

In breaking the former record of sixteen minutes, fifty and three-fifths seconds, held by the Essex, the Cleveland Six not only established a new mark to shoot at, but gained possession for the W. P. Herbert Co. of the Pomona Bulletin permanent challenge trophy awarded to the absolutely stock car making the best time in high gear up this gruelling climb.

Does Its Stuff
In accomplishing the successful feat, the Cleveland Six showed a world of power, speed and endurance in winding up the twisting mountain course which rises to an elevation of some 4315 feet and is full of twists and turns, and with grades as high as 23 1/2 per cent. It was necessary for Mulford to call upon all of his vast fund of driving experience and daring in order to make every fraction of a second count, and there is little question that the Cleveland record on Mt. Baldy will stand for a long time to come.

Those motorists who have driven up the Mt. Baldy road through to Icehouse canyon will find it hard indeed to realize that any motor car could accomplish this difficult climb in high gear, especially in the short space of time in which the Cleveland performed the feat. However, in order to dispel any possibility of a doubt, representatives of The Los Angeles Examiner, Times, Herald and Express were invited to observe the performance and acted as official timers in conjunction with the representatives of The Pomona Bulletin, which staged the climb.

No Chance to Shift
Before starting on the run, the Cleveland Six was placed in high gear and the gear shift lever actually sawed off, in order that there would be no opportunity for Mulford to shift into second or low. In addition, W. R. Sias of The Pomona Bulletin rode with Mulford as a passenger and official observer.

The large crowd from Los Angeles, Pomona, Ontario and other valley towns assembled along the course and at the end of the road at Icehouse canyon to witness the Cleveland's performance, and as soon as Mulford saw away at the start of the climb everybody scanned the ribbon of highway in order to get the first glimpse of car and driver. Soon the roar of the mileage motor was heard re-echoing through the canyon and then the Cleveland shot into view coming at full speed around one of the tortuous turns of the roadway, to be immediately lost again as it continued through the deep recesses of the canyon beyond. The roar of the motor would be echoed and re-echoed and the watchers of the end of the road intensified their observation until suddenly Mulford, driving like mad and exerting every fraction of power and speed in the Cleveland that the treacherous road would stand, hove into view near the goal in a final burst of speed and it was apparent to all that a new high gear and speed record had been established.

Sets New Record

Crossing the finish line with the speed of a lightning bolt, Mulford brought the car to a stop and the official timers carefully checked the time by taking the average time of the three stop watches. When official announcement had been made that the previous record had been broken by more than two minutes and eighteen seconds and that the Cleveland Six had gained possession of the Bulletin trophy, the canyons resounded again and again with the cheers and applause of spectators in a volume of noise that could be heard far down the valley.

After the completion of the run the gear ratio of the Cleveland Six was carefully checked up by the officials in order to be certain that it was absolutely stock. Then the Pomona Bulletin representative, W. R. Sias, presented the beautiful silver loving cup with fitting ceremony, and car and driver returned to the W. P. Herbert establishment in Los Angeles, bringing with them the silver trophy which has taken its place beside the Mt. Wilson trophy won by the Cleveland Six two weeks ago.

Strictly Stock Car
The Cleveland Six used in the Mt. Baldy run was the same car that made the world record on Mt. Wilson and was strictly stock in every respect, except for the removal of the fenders, windshield and top, which were removed solely for the sake of safety.

"That the Cleveland Six was able to negotiate the tortuous curves and steep grades at Mt. Baldy in high gear is just another indication of the perfect balance and roadability of the car and is clear evidence of its real merit," state Herbert officials. "The Mileage Motor functioned perfectly and the 'One Shot' lubrication system insured positive chassis lubrication at all times. Richfield gasoline and Richlube oil were used in the car during the climb and assisted materially in making the Cleveland's feat possible. The Cleveland carried Firestone balloon tire equipment and those tires proved ideal on the steep, rough pitches."

The Cleveland is handled in Glendale by Smith Bros., 1119 South Brand boulevard.

Expect Gains In Iron Trade With New Year

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—Iron and steel operations in this section now is about 75 per cent of capacity with plants prepared to make further advances after the turn of the year. Ore shipments to December 1 totaled 42,614,666 tons, a decrease of over 16,000,000 tons as compared with 1923.

EUROPEAN EXPERT ENJOYS CHRYSLER

Automobile Authority Tells Pleasure Experienced In Driving Car

Europe apparently has taken the Chrysler Six to its heart equally as much as America, judging from reports reaching here from those countries abroad in which the car has been introduced, according to Lyman P. Clark, 124 West Colorado street, Chrysler and Maxwell dealer.

"T. K. T." widely known Irish automobile authority, writing in the Belfast News Letter, one of Ireland's leading newspapers, has this to say of the car:

"I hinted last week that the new American Chrysler was expected in Belfast. It is here, and I have just had a run. I expected to find it a very fine car, but the reports of its performance did it scant justice. The road I was impressed with the fact that it was the finest car I have ever driven or been driven in, irrespective of price."

Four Wheel Brakes
"The engine is undoubtedly a masterpiece. Thirty-five to forty miles an hour can be maintained right up the horseshoe, which is a fair indication of the car's power on hills."

"The most remarkable part of the car is the fact that were it not that the speedometer is in front of you, when traveling at forty miles an hour you would feel certain that the speed was no more than twenty-five. And so fine is the suspension that the roughest roads can be traveled over without any sensation of discomfort. At fifty-five miles an hour the car appears to be just getting into its stride, and there is a complete absence of vibration of any kind."

"I am not enamored of them, but I really for the first time enjoyed using the four-wheel brakes on the Chrysler. They are free from all jarring and work like velvet. There is a reason of course. They are hydraulic. Therefore compensation on account of one of the elementary laws of the science of hydraulics must be perfect."

THREE PLAYS ON 1925 CLASS LIST

Trojans Rest Balance Of Week, Says Coach

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson decided today to let his University of Southern California football players, who meet Missouri here Christmas day, rest for the remainder of the week. Practice for the Trojans will not be resumed until next Monday. All of the Californians came through the game with Syracuse last Saturday in good shape and the entire squad will be available for the Christmas tilt.

Henderson was expected to present an aerial attack against the Missouri team and Eddie Green, whose passing against the Syracuse players was sensational, will be featured in new plays the Trojans are developing.

Preliminary plans for the en-tainmentment of the Missourians, who will arrive here December 23, were completed today by the University of Missouri Alumni association of Southern California. A rooters' section has been established for Missouri. Speeches of Mayor George Cryer and other officials who welcome the easterners on their arrival will be broadcast to Kansas City.

Seats for Big Game Are Selling Rapidly

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Demands for tickets to the Notre Dame-Stanford football game at Pasadena New Year's day have exceeded all records in Tournament of Roses contests, it was announced today. All of the $6 and $5 seats have been sold and by the end of the week only the cheapest pasteboards will be on sale. The Tournament committee, in a formal statement, announced that Stanford had been selected to meet Notre Dame because it was considered the outstanding team of the Pacific Coast conference.

"Stanford leads the conference just as Notre Dame leads the middle west and east," the announcement said.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 11.—Platinum and diamond jewelry is moving freely. Jewelers say the consumption of platinum is unprecedented, owing to the fad of having old jewelry reset.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advertisement.

A RELIABLE COUGH REMEDY

Why experiment with unknown remedies for that cough or cold when you can secure FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND? It is a safe and reliable remedy for the relief of coughs, colds, hoarseness. Equally beneficial for young and old. Mrs. Anna Cornell, Bridgeton, N. J., states: "I bought FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND for my cold and find it great." Insist upon the genuine. It has substitutes.

OPENS GARAGE ON GLENDALE AVENUE

Thirty-Day Guarantee Given By W. E. Healy on Work; Open at Night

One of the most complete garages in Glendale is that just opened by W. E. Healy at 821 South Glendale avenue under the name of Healy Motor Co., in a new class A brick building 50x100 feet. Mr. Healy has completely equipped his garage to care for all classes of repair work and in addition says he gives a guarantee of thirty days. "When I say a thirty day guarantee, I mean just that," said Mr. Healy, "and any work that does not prove satisfactory for thirty days will be done over free."

He also sells Mohawk tires and later will stock a complete line of accessories. New machinery and tools supplied by McCoy Motor Co., of Los Angeles, in the hands of expert mechanics add to the efficiency of the shop. Automatic wheel alignment is another feature of the service Mr. Healy renders.

All Night Service For the present the garage will be open until midnight, but later all night service will be given. However, twenty-four hour tow service is now available. Shell oil and lubricants are used. A ten-year lease has been taken on the building and Mr. Healy says he expects to remain in "the fastest growing city in America" for the rest of his life.

Mr. Healy has had many years' automobile experience and a year was in business on South Brand boulevard. He came to California from Sheffield, Ill., in 1902 and for six years was connected with the Los Angeles Railway Co., then for nine years with the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Co. Prior to coming to Glendale he was with the Los Angeles Shipbuilding & Drydock Co., San Pedro.

Mr. Healy has resided in Glendale over a year and is a property owner, residing at 513 East Palmer avenue.

One of the features of his garage is a lounging and rest room for women. Mr. Healy invites all Glendaleans to make an inspection of his garage.

Electric Installation Work by Ogden Firm

C. M. Ogden Electric Co., 720 North Isabel street, who did the electric installation work at Healy Motor Co. building, 821 South Glendale avenue, has done most of the electric work in the new Rossmore section where only the highest class work is accepted. Mr. Ogden came from Chicago two years ago and has been in the electrical business fifteen years. This company does maintenance work on some of the largest office buildings in Glendale and does all trust estate work for one of Los Angeles' largest banks. Motor installation, repair work and general contracting comprise the bulk of their business.

Monkey Shine Product Known Over Southland

Monkey Shine Products Co., manufacturers of Monkey Shine top dressing, Monkey Shine auto polish and Monkey Shine brake stop, maintaining a factory in Glendale, are putting on a demonstration at Healy Motor Co., 821 South Glendale avenue, also putting on an intensive advertising campaign to popularize their products. This product has been in Southern California seven years and plans are being made to enlarge the factory after the first of the year.

Owner of Healy Block Heavy Investor Here

H. L. Hock, 112 South Adams street, owns the building occupied by Healy Motor Co., 821 South Glendale avenue, just opened, and has leased it for a period of ten years to Mr. Healy. Mr. Hock also owns buildings at 1308 South Glendale avenue, residence at 1120 Stanley avenue and real estate at Montrose. Mr. Hock came from New York, N. D., intending to retire, but said the great future he saw for Glendale influenced him to invest here.

Sign Painters Record Reveals Workmanship

C. M. Burke, who did the sign work for Healy Motor Co., 821 South Glendale avenue, has been in business in Glendale three years and guarantees all his work. He specializes in wall work, gold lettering and pictorial work. Mr. Burke was with Foster & Kleiser 12 years and now has associated with him Gerald Garrett, whom Mr. Burke says is one of the best window letterers and gold leaf men in Southern California.

Roofing Experts Give Special Service Care

Large volume of business is not the goal of the Consolidated Roofing Co., who did the roofing work on the Healy Motor Co. building, 821 South Glendale avenue, but their creed is rather to care for the roofing requirements, large or small, of those who want conscientious work at fair prices.

Few colleges of China include music in their curricula.

Evening News Thanked By Improvement Body

Editor, The Evening News:—As president of the Southeast Glendale Improvement association, I beg leave to congratulate you and your live and loyal paper on your wide home and frsides circulation evidenced by the unusually large response to the co-operative publicity given by you to our recent activities, for which please accept our highest appreciation. Largely through your efforts, the auditorium of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school was filled to capacity. A rousing and enthusiastic meeting was enjoyed by a large number of Glendale's most representative citizens.

A special meeting, to discuss the legal aspects of the situation, will be held at the same location on Saturday, December 13, at 7:30 p. m.

Again thanking you, I am most sincerely yours,
JAMES C. LEITCH,
President.

Physicians Organize Under Medical Group

The association of physicians heretofore known as the Glendale Clinical group, has changed its name to Glendale Medical group. Headquarters are maintained at 136 North Central avenue and the group is composed of Dr. A. G. Bower, diagnosis and treatment of medical diseases of adults and children; Dr. A. L. Munger, maternity cases and diseases of women; Dr. F. W. Loring, eye, ear, nose and throat; Dr. N. C. Paine, general and industrial surgery, including fractures.

Explaining the change of name the physicians said that some confusion has been caused by the word clinic. Some people identified it with a free clinic or office maintained by civic or private organizations for treatment of disease, while others confused the word as pertaining to laboratory or similar work. In addition there are many other organizations using the word clinic and covering many phases of medical or laboratory work, hence the decision to use the name Glendale Medical group.

Plumbing Contractors Have Enviably Record

J. Leslie Hague, 442 West Harvard street, who did the plumbing at the Healy Motor Co. building, 821 South Glendale avenue, has been in this line of business for many years. The business runs under the name of Hague & Townsend, but was under Mr. Hague's name for two and a half years. He was in business at 1618 Winstead street, Los Angeles, sixteen years and specializes on repair work for the better class of homes. Mr. Hague does all the plumbing for Goodlow Building Co., and some of his jobs are the $14,000 Snively residence, Palm drive, La. Cienega, Clark residence, 505 Wing street, and F. Conner residence, Santa Maria avenue.

Cement Builders Have Enviably Record Here

Barnes & Son, cement contractors, 1130 North Adams place, who did the cement work for Healy Motor Co., 821 South Glendale avenue, and composed of Alfred H. Barnes and son, Charles H. Barnes, have been in business in Glendale three years and do anything in the way of cement foundation installation, floors, reinforced concrete and tennis courts. They now have five jobs under way at Hollywood and one in Pasadena, subcontracting from the Teck Co., Hollywood. Hull & Harris products and Victor cement is used and a gang of nine men constantly employed.

Special Machine Now Building for Brakes

S. M. Blake, who runs the brake department of the Healy Motor Co., 821 South Glendale avenue, is co-operating with Mr. Healy for 30 days by giving free brake inspection. Mr. Blake is building a machine for the installation of brake lining which will do the drilling, counter-sinking and riveting. This machine is now being manufactured for the wholesale trade and will soon be placed on the market. Mr. Blake has been in business since 1908.

Investment Company Makes Loans on Cars

Auto loans direct to individuals is part of the service rendered by J. V. Rea Investment Co., 128 West Wilson avenue, in addition to contracts refinanced and payments lowered, private contracts purchased and reasonable rates. Mr. Rea said they endeavor to give quick, courteous service and respect all confidences.

Enfield Plastering Work Reflects Ability

W. M. Enfield, 1371 East Garfield avenue did the plastering at the Healy Motor Co., 821 South Glendale avenue, and the art work in Mr. Healy's office, reflects Mr. Enfield's ability. Many big jobs in Glendale are credited to Mr. Enfield.

RAIL SYSTEMS GET CHANCE TO MERGE

Coolidge Starts Drive to Solve Roads Problem
By Opening Way

By W. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—In the hope of solving America's railroad problem, the Coolidge administration has inaugurated a drive in Congress for legislation permitting a voluntary consolidation of the nation's rail systems.

President Coolidge himself took the initiative, it was learned today, in a series of conferences with Congressional leaders. He was assured of hearty co-operation in the enactment of a bill giving the railroads at least a period in which to voluntarily merge.

As a further step toward railroad peace administration leaders have met with representatives of organized labor in an effort to compromise the employees' differences.

Revision of Power
The conference, it was said, resulted in an agreement to completely revise the railroad labor board's powers and to create a new tribunal, armed with authority to render compulsory decisions in disputes where a strike attempt made, however, to legislate on railroad freight rates.

The consolidation bill will be given preference and an effort made to enact it at the present session of Congress. It will be offered by Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, who has already conferred with the president.

Thirty-nine states had no lynchings in 1923.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Aside from what the sporting writers have to say on the subject Glendale should be proud of its football teams representing the union high school. Saturday will see the windup of their season with the heavyweight varsity playing off a tie with Orange and the fleawrights playing Huntington Park in a preliminary at Paterson stadium, Occidental college.

Every Glendale gridiron fan should be present to pay honor to these youngsters who, by hard work, have brought a great deal of athletic glory to this city. You know just how much energy it takes to be a successful football player you would admire each and every one of these lads the more.

If other Glendale students are as good in their particular lines of endeavor as the pigskin pushers are well, words of praise for the school would fall far short of saying enough.

This writer believes, however, that leadership in football represents the material with which the community where the class of Glendale a high-class, sturdy citizenry. There are neither sons of idle rich nor product of the slums. They are typically American, alert, clean, self-confident and good sports.

It is a real pleasure to live in a community where the class of people is living evidence of the sovereignty of the bourgeoisie.

G. H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, is a practical man. He tells the farmers of this state that industrial population is needed. That is true. But just what are those industries to be?

One readily appreciates the need for factories and steel mills and other industrial enterprises on the west coast, but the greatest care should be used in promoting them at the expense of other interests.

Casting aside colored glasses for a moment, there is no doubt but what Los Angeles has become so commercialized that it is no longer attractive to those who wish to retire in old age. They can not and will not stand for the stress of street traffic in order to do their little shopping. They are considerably bothered by the high pressure methods used by the stock and real estate salesmen of the metropolis. Indeed, they have fair cause for complaint, which is to be heard daily.

Los Angeles has built an industrial city. With all its wealth it should advertise Pasadena and Glendale and Santa Barbara and San Diego as ideal for the tourist and homeseeker.

But again let us take off the colored glasses and look at Glendale. What sort of accommodations for the tourist does this city boast? There are some apartments, some bungalow courts, some hotels without elevator or dining-room service. That's about all. Actually, we make no bid for winter residents as Florida cities are doing with low rents, and many hotels.

Take San Diego, for instance. It has built a great clientele of winter racing fans who have crowded out the more circum-spect; Santa Barbara hotels raised their rates to cater to the tastes of millionaires, it is charged, with the result plebeians take it off their itinerary. Long Beach went crazy over oil and nearly spoiled its attractions for tourists. Pasadena, alone, among the larger cities, seems to meet the situation, as far as making itself attractive for the seasonal guest.

Now then the question: Does Glendale want to become an industrial city, a tourist center, a haven for commuters solely, or what?

Anyone can give advice. It is much more difficult to make a decision in the face of facts regarding the destiny of a community.

Stray Dogs Now Have Real Shelter as Home

Stray dogs that have been kept in the city pound now are kept in the animal shelter of the Glendale Humane society. Plans for further work at the shelter will be made tomorrow night at the meeting of the humane society at the Chamber of Commerce office, at 8 o'clock. Edwin Kulp, president, said today.

Vocalist

A. J. KISSELBURGH, baritone, who will appear in "The Messiah," December 16, at Broadway High school auditorium.

In presenting "The Messiah," Handel's Oratorio, which so graphically portrays the birth and life of the Christ Child, the Glendale Music club is perpetuating a Christmas tradition loved in many lands.

Supplemented by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, the Glendale Music club of 200 selected voices and four star soloists, will sing "The Messiah," December 16, at the Broadway High school auditorium, Glendale.

For four months the club has been rehearsing. The dress rehearsal will take place Sunday, December 14, at the Philharmonic auditorium.

Alexander J. Kisselburgh, one of the four star soloists, is an oratorio singer of extended experience, with a large repertoire of oratorios to his credit. He is also a member of the Pasadena First Presbyterian church quartet and director of the Al Malakiah Chanters, the famous Shrine singing organization.

Other artists taking part are: Clemence Gifford Johnson, contralto; Moonie Hays Hastings, soprano; and Harold Proctor, tenor. John Smallman, nationally known in oratorio work, will direct.

Girl Scouts to Give Many Holiday Parties

Girl Scout troops of Glendale are planning several Christmas parties, combining pleasure with philanthropic work. Troop 5 will give formal investiture December 19 at the Person home. On December 22 Troop 2 will have a Christmas tree and party at the Scout bungalow, later giving the tree and gifts to the Glendale Welfare Council. Troop 6 will have a similar affair on December 23. Girls of Troop 6 will visit the battleships at San Pedro during Christmas vacation. Members of Troop 2 are going to spend the week-end after Christmas at Balboa beach. Plans for a Christmas party are being made by Troop 3. Girls of this troop will give 25 cents each to Glendale Welfare Council.

HOUSE OWNERS ASK NOTICE BY C. OF C.

Apartment House Society
Wants Representation
In Booklets

The Apartment House association adopted a resolution last night authorizing their president, Frederick Reinecke, to request that the Chamber of Commerce include cuts of high class Glendale apartments and hotels in future advertising booklets. The meeting was held in the C. of C. rooms, 150 South Brand boulevard, President Reinecke presiding. Miss M. E. Persch, secretary, kept the minutes of the meeting.

A discussion was had of ways and means to attract newcomers to Glendale. A report from the by-laws committee indicated the organization, which came into being August 1 of this year, is rapidly progressing. A report from the membership committee, showing a membership of thirty at the present time, substantiated this. The Apartment House association is affiliated with the Chamber of Commerce as a subsidiary body, President Reinecke reiterated to the members, and this must be borne in mind in outlining policies and making plans.

It was decided that hereafter meetings will be held regularly, once a month, in the rooms of the chamber.

Annual Election Plan Of Glendale Red Cross

Annual election of Glendale Red Cross chapter will be held Wednesday afternoon, December 17, at the meeting in the hall at 323 North Brand boulevard. Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., chairman, announces that the meeting will begin at 3:30 o'clock. She invites all interested Glendallians, especially those supporting the Red Cross, to attend the Community Chest, to attend.

The GREBE SYNCHROPHASE

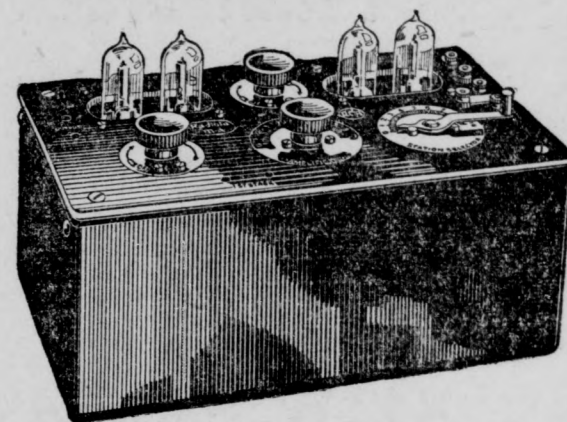

Exclusively at Budwig Radio

The Grebe Synchrophase—outstanding triumph of fifteen years of radio development—is a distinct departure from the earlier types of tuned radio frequency receivers.

Greater sensitivity has been gained through two stages of balanced tuned radio frequency—the result of many months of intensive research by the Grebe engineering staff. Extreme selectivity has been obtained by the use of Binocular coils, which are unaffected by impulses from undesired local stations.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Oranges and Lemons—

Oranges, lemons, limes, tomatoes and most other fruits, which are normally acid in reaction in their natural state, are not acid after digestion and absorption in the body, because during the process of oxidation in the tissues, their organic acids are changed, leaving a basic or alkaline salt. While the end product of these fruits is basic, they are not basic until they are oxidized in the tissues and the immediate action in the stomach is that of a mild acid. It occasionally happens that those who have so-called delicate stomachs have to moderate in the use of fresh fruits, especially the citrus fruits, until their condition is improved.

There are some organic acids—benzoic and oxalic acids—which are present in some natural foods which apparently are not oxidized, so the foods containing these acids would act like real acids in the system.

Plums, cranberries and prunes contain some benzoic acid. Rhubarb contains oxalic acid. These acids are largely under the skin. The blood and tissue fluids are normally slightly alkaline and they must be maintained this way for health and so that would indicate that we should have preponderance of the alkaline or base forming foods.

In cases of irritable bladders and "weak" kidneys, it is especially important to give attention to the final reactions of the food, for foods which have a preponderance of base forming elements lead to the formation of urine which is less acid, therefore less irritating.

Fat Ankles and Legs—
"Dear Doctor: I am 20 years of age and about five feet, two inches in height, and did weigh 157. I sent my self-addressed and stamped envelope and ten cents in stamps for your booklet on reducing, which I followed closely, and now I am down to 135. Some difference! Many thanks to you. May you have all the good luck due you."

"There is one thing troubling me, and that is I have not reduced any from my legs and ankles, where I really wanted to lose most. Lately I have been walking a good deal, but it seems to have no effect. Oh, how I envy people with nice slender ankles! Thick ankles give such an awkward appearance."

pearance. Would you advise rubber anklets for reducing them?

"Here's hoping you will send me a cheery reply—K."

At 135, you are still 15 to 20 overweight, K. Perhaps, when you have reduced to normal, your fat ankles and legs will go down more. You can apply local massage—that will help also. There is a hand roller that is very good. You will give yourself excellent exercise at the same time you give yourself the massage. I will give you the name of this roller if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Firm strapping does seem to keep fat ankles from expanding, so firm elastic anklets which you can get in surgical supply houses may be of help. Of course if the large ankles are due to large bones, you have to blame your ancestors, perhaps some generations back, unless your large joints and bones are due to rickets in childhood. But don't blame your parents because parents of the past generations were not so well educated in the treatment and prevention of rickets as they are now.

For your other problems, you must see your physician.

Tuberculosis—
We have an article on tuberculosis which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Are you buying your share of Christmas seals, to help eradicate this disease? Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type them, if possible, with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions I ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

TONING UP THE SKIN
The very young girl needs no complexion treatment beyond ordinary cleanliness which means hot water, soap and cold cream when required. Of course abnormal conditions such as large pores, wrinkles and pimples need special treatment, but I am dealing today with the average skin, the moderately clear, moderately fine grained complexion.

The older woman, however, must do more than simply keep her face clean. Even when she has a clear skin, she must tone it up now and then to prevent wrinkles and to ward off those slack muscles and drooping lines that will let people guess her real age long before she wants them to. The best way to cure wrinkles is never to let them come; and, years before there is even a hint of a wrinkle, there are sagging lines and a general dragging down of the face to be fought with.

The older woman may use heat (which is tending) and an astringent. If a dry skin, use oil; that is, a cold cream made from a vegetable oil, which the skin will take up. This cleans and feeds the complexion, and the massage (there should be quite a bit of this after 40) will bring the blood to the face. If the skin is oily there is much less danger of wrinkles. In the latter case the treatment may begin with soap and hot water, followed by a cold rinse. But it must always end with an astringent.

Form New Group

The Live Cole division of the Missionary society of the Central Christian church was organized at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the church bungalow. Mrs. Floyd Mercer, vice-president of the Missionary society, presided and directed the organization. Mrs. Ray Cleveland was elected chairman of the group, with Mrs. Homer B. Miller as secretary and treasurer. Committees appointed: Mrs. Oscar Whitaker, member ship; Mrs. Harry Marple, world's call; Mrs. Martha Dennison, reading. Meetings of the division are determined by the Missionary society, with the exception of social meetings, which may be held at any time. The Stith and Chatter club members held an all-day meeting at the bungalow yesterday and so attended the organization meeting, as they are all eligible to membership. Mrs. P. V. Crickard, president of the club, conducted the meeting. Most of the day was devoted to sewing. Children's nightgowns for the Glendale Welfare Council were made last week and have been given to the council to distribute to needy families. A business meeting of the club will be held Wednesday, December 17, at which time the election of officers will take place. The remainder of the day will be devoted to sewing.

Birthday Party

The R. F. Kitterman home, 311 North Kenwood street presented a merry scene Tuesday night, at a social affair arranged as a birthday surprise for Kathryn Kitterman. Christmas decorations were used. Bunco and dancing were diversions. Lois Whiteman won first prize, and Charles Worley, second, in the bunco games. A white birthday cake decorated with poinsettia design, was cut by the honoree during the serving of refreshments. Guests were Misses Flora Staples, Ruth Downs, Lois Whiteman, Frances O'Connell, Janice Brown, Helen White, Dorothy Allen, Marcella Nieberger, and Frank Thompson, Gene Wernette, Jack Finch, Marion Morrison, Horace Anderson, Charles Pherson, Lester Gray, Howard Elliott. Mrs. Kitterman was assisted by her daughter, Lavera Kitterman.

Early History

Early American history was told yesterday at the American citizenship and legislation department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, in two papers read by Miss Hazel White and Mrs. H. W. Duncan. Miss White's paper was "Early History of the Colonies." Mrs. Duncan presented "Defects of Articles of Confederation." Current events were given by those attending. Miss Ida D. Myers, curator, read letters from friends residing in Japan and Japanese papers regarding the immigration restriction. There will be no meeting of the department in two weeks, the next meeting being planned for January 14.

Wed in North

News comes from Santa Cruz of the marriage there on Monday, December 8, 1924, of Rev. Ora P. Rider of 88 East Lomita. Dr. Warren D. Moore, a boyhood friend of Mr. Rider's in northern New York, officiated at the ceremony, which took place at the Presbyterian manse. Mrs. Rider has been active in church work. She is an accomplished musician and singer, and particularly interested in young people's work. Mr. and Mrs. Rider are to make their home in Glendale, arriving the latter part of this week.

Chapter Meeting

Chapter L P. E. O., held an all day meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Nell Maxwell, 129 West Burchard street. Mrs. E. U. Emery, president directed the business session, when plans were made for a special meeting of the chapter to be held Wednesday, December 17, at the home of Mrs. Ed Lee, 345 North Belmont street. At that time the members will sew for a needy family of Glendale. The luncheon table was decorated in Christmas decorations, a miniature tree forming the centerpiece. Poinsettias were an added attractive feature. Mrs. Madeline Kelley, of chapter BA, and Mrs. Pierce, of chapter BE, of Spear Lake, Iowa, were guests. Hostesses assisting Mrs. Maxwell were Mesdames A. L. Bryant, Fern Roberts, and Amy Timonhy. A short program was presented in the afternoon and proved very entertaining. Miss Marjory Temple gave Italian readings in costume and a Christmas story. Albert Bryant, who is a well known lyric tenor soloist gave selections accompanied by his mother, Mrs. A. L. Bryant. A soap shower for the True Love home, Los Angeles, was one of the features of the meeting. No regular meetings of the chapter will be held until January.

Orangemen Outweigh Dynamiters; Compton Team Will See Battle

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Among the interested spectators at the Glendale-Orange heavyweight battle Saturday afternoon at Patterson stadium will be the entire Compton grid squad and Coach E. W. Pine, getting a line on the playing of both teams. The winner of Saturday's game meets Compton next week in the final round of playoff for the Southern California title.

When Glendale and Orange met last Saturday a 0-10-0 tie was the result, but the Dynamiters ran circles around their heavier opponents, without being able to score. The locals scored eleven first downs, while the Panthers scored but one, all of which goes to show that Coach Hayhurst's boys should be given somewhat of an edge for this week-end's tilt.

No doubt the Dynamiters would have won the game had not the odds of the slippery field been against them. With four downs to go nine yards for a touchdown in the third quarter Elmer Muff slipped and lost ten yards when victory seemed within grasp. Bud Elliott, who attempted six place kicks, failed chiefly because of the slippery ball, which was caked with mud.

Heavy Backfield
On the contrary the Panthers neither slipped nor fumbled, nevertheless, they were unable to make more than five yards in three downs on line backs when their 665-pound backfield. Whether or not they will be able to get up enough steam for successful bucks on the dry turf will be seen Saturday.

Unless something is off, the Dynamiters will have the advantage on a dry field. Once Elmer Muff or Bud Elliott gets loose on an end run the Panthers' secondary defense will have a lot to worry about. Hayhurst has produced few such open field runners as Muff or Elliott. Dick Ryan, right half, although not quite as tricky as either Muff or Elliott, usually gets away for several ten or twenty-yard sprints. Carl Denney, fullback, defensive quarter, does most of the Glendale line plunging.

Locals Outweighed
When the Dynamiters go into the game they will be outweighed almost twelve pounds to the man. The Panthers average 166 pounds in the backfield and 174 pounds in the line; team average is 171 pounds; while the locals average only 148 pounds in the backfield and 165 in the line, team average 159 pounds.

The Panthers specialize in straight line bucking and a sprinkling of a forward pass attack now and then. The Dynamiters, on the other hand, play a diversified game, going in strong for end runs and fake formations. Coach Hayhurst's lads will probably open their aerial attack Saturday, and give the fans some real thrills with their sweeping "end over" plays.

Flawless Open
The Glendale and Huntington Park fleawights will open the Saturday grid man, playing for the Southern California Class C title. These two teams battled to a 7-0-7 tie at Huntington Park on December 3, and the rematch was necessary to determine the championship. The fleaweight game will start at 12:15 o'clock, and the heavyweight struggle will occupy the attention of fans from 2:15 o'clock on.

One of the best football games of the season is expected when the little fellows meet in the curtain raiser. Ordinarily, this game would be a corker as a main event, but, on account of the heavyweight game, it is being played as a preliminary. Grid fans who pass up the fleaweight game and wait for the heavyweight contest are going to be deprived of a lot of excitement, thrills and enjoyment.

Coach Wolfe has his babes in first-class shape for the crucial struggle. The fleawights smothered everything they came up against until the game at Huntington Park, which the Spartans won on pure luck, a blocked kick rolling over the goal line, giving them the tying touchdown.

CONSTIPATION OVERCOME
The use of FOLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS will bring speedy relief from constipation if taken promptly. They are purely vegetable and act on the liver. Mr. John D. McComb, Lucas Co. Home, Toledo, Ohio, writes: "Have used FOLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS in severe cases of constipation to which I am subject and found them beneficial." FOLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS are easy to take, leave no unpleasant after effects. Try them.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Wise ones said Tommy Gibbons couldn't fight. They bolstered argument with bold assertion that Gibbons never whipped anyone. He whipped Kid Norfolk at Xmas benefit in Big Town and Kid Norfolk is no grab-bag prize. Gibbons stayed 15 rounds with Dempsey at Shelby. He went over to Prince of Wales's future empire and licked everything over there. Mr. Dempsey wants to tell him he can't fight. Dempsey knows better.

Tommy played with colored fighter other night like Germany plays with reparations plans. When he got ready he spilled the kid like bossy spills milk pail when dies bite. Colored boy and hearing and seeing all noises and things ever invented when referee stopped fight. No—Gibbons can't fight.

Wise ones insist Gibbons never whipped anyone. By the by—whom did Mr. Dempsey ever whip. Yes—Jesse Willard when he was down-and-out after getting Jack Johnson to do a Fred Fulton over in Havana. No one, we hope, who pretends to know prize fighting and fighters will give Dempsey any medals for beating Carpenter. Bill Brennan stayed 12 rounds with Dempsey when he was in his prime in Madison Square Garden, and Bill was as smart as L. A. policeman.

And by the same token medals aren't in order for Mr. Dempsey whipping Firpo. Firpo, on the other hand, knocked Mr. Dempsey outside of four ropes and if Kid Queensberry rules were followed Firpo would have been winner.

Gibbons has been a clean liver. He's around same age as Dempsey. He's cleverer than Dempsey. He hasn't Dempsey's punch. Wait until Mr. Dempsey meets Mr. Gibbons.

Santa Claus had special bobsleds built to deliver Badge Bandit's stocking full. He brought bad man who broke up petting parties in auto by roadside, nice little stone quarry and a lot of big ones to make little ones out of. Dunlap has something like 133 years to make little ones out of big ones. Merry Xmas, Harry.

Continuing "ways to spend Xmas" by "rabbit-brained" movie stars. Latest development over in Hollywood reveals that one of its vampiest vamps is going to stay right at home. She probably only worked a couple of days last six months. She can vamp 'em all but the railroads.

Another one is tearing her hair out—one by one—because she can't leave the "set" in time to walk to New York and meet Santa there. And she needs new clothes so badly.

Hollywood supports picture stars, gives them publicity and let's world know they are actresses whether they are or not. When actress wants useless stockings of baby seal skin coat she goes to New York to buy it. That's the brand of gratitude late Bert Williams used to sing about.

If authorities carry out plan to investigate death of Tom Ince lot of these babies will have to stay at home and have their Xmas. They didn't intend to go anyway.

We haven't heard how Charlie and school girl bride are going to spend Xmas. Lita probably will hand up her stocking like all good little girls. She doesn't want to depend too much on Charlie's generosity. He has been known to keep a dollar a long time.

Even the "extra girl" breaks into print and tells world she's going to spend Xmas, as though anyone cared. Yvonne Rattle Brains worked three days during current year and wishes some kind soul would give her a make-up box for Xmas.

Yvonne explained that she's going to need make-up box next summer again and wants to be prepared to do her stuff like it never was done before. She has been promised a "bit" by her favorite director imitating "Stupidity" in the big trial scene of "The Poor Working Girl."

One year from this Xmas Yvonne promises to make Gloria Swanson look like one of Tony Sarg's puppets. Two months from now she's going to Europe to see if they know their stuff over there. Day after Xmas she expects to have enough presents to move into only vacant palace in Beverly Hills.

She knows more about acting right this minute than Duse did in her prime days. Norma Talmadge is a "ham" in Yvonne's eyes. Buddy Valentino is alright but he doesn't know a good looker when he sees her. With this Yvonne takes a bow.

According to researches, landlords of Rome became so avaricious that Caesar promulgated a law that rents for villas should not be more than $100 a year.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Wisconsin's athletic authorities are casting about for a new director of athletics to succeed T. E. Jones, who has resigned and will hereafter confine himself to his duties as track coach.

Among those who are being considered for the position are Dr. W. E. Meanwell, coach of basketball; Fred Dawson of Nebraska, and a number of other men. Jones, who is a man of the highest character and ideals, had been athletic director at Madison for ten years, combining the coaching of track and freshman football with his executive duties.

He has, as said, all the character and ability to swing this job, but he is not a man of words and as a speaker before alumni has not made a striking impression. There has also been some criticism of him as being too deliberate in his actions.

Again he is one of those who strongly favor the ascendancy of the classroom over the athletic field. As a consequence his tenure of office has not been free from squabbles ranging from petty to bitter.

In 1917, Dr. Meanwell, who had made a reputation as a basketball coach, left Wisconsin because of certain differences with Jones. He came back three years ago and he has, at the time was that eventually he might slide into the office of athletic director. He is an aggressive man and a fighter all the way through.

It would appear that he has a strong backing to succeed Jones. Perhaps the new director, whoever he may be, will take an attitude toward a Wisconsin-Marquette game more favorable than that of the late director. Jones had steadily declined to play the Milwaukee eleven on the ground that the state would find its interest divided over this game and he did not wish to arrange a contest that would thus affect Wisconsin solidarity.

So many fearsome, or striking, or interesting nicknames have been pre-empted by schools and colleges that some of the institutions have been having a difficult time finding catchy designations that have the right psychology behind them. Until recent years most colleges were content to send out eleven under the names of the institutions they represented. But now it is an humble institution indeed that does not rejoice in some catch name, ranging from the unimaginative Lions (Columbia university) to the intriguing Horned Frogs (Texas Christian University).

Sometimes football teams logically develop the nicknames which are applied to them; at others the names are thrust upon them. But it is doubtful if any have the real underlying significance which attaches to Alabama's nickname, The Crimson Tide.

The general understanding has been the name denoted an irresistible surge, rising constantly and engulfing everything. But now it appears this is not quite the case. The name was first devised and applied by a southern sports critic as symbolic of Alabama's habit of turning in a world beating football game one day and a mediocre game the next. In other words the crimson tide ebbs and flows.

Wilson Juniors Win Series, Championship

Wilson Intermediate Juniors won the touchball championship Wednesday afternoon when they defeated Glendale Intermediate Juniors 10 to 7. Glendale scored a touchdown in the first quarter, but the Wilson boys held them from that time on and the ball was in Wilson's possession most of the time. Denny Tatlaw, Wilson's fullback, kicked a field goal in the second quarter and the score stood 7 to 3 until the last five minutes of play when Tatlaw passed to Donald Turner, who ran five yards and across the enemy's goal. Maurice Wilkins, Denny Tatlaw, Donald Turner and Gilbert Eckles were the outstanding players.

Ban Johnson Presents Evidence of Gambling

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Documentary evidence offered in support of his charge that gambling was rampant last season in Pacific Coast league ball parks was presented by Byron Bancroft Johnson, president of the American league, to the league's board of directors, meeting here as a preliminary to the annual league session. The charges were ordered tabled for consideration by the league as a whole. Just what evidence was offered by Johnson was not revealed. Neither the league head nor the directors would discuss the matter pending its consideration by the league.

OPEN CONFERENCE ON COAST PLANS

Question of Charges Against U. S. C. by Stanford and California Is Up

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 11.—Pacific coast and northwest intercollegiate conference representatives opened their three day session here today and indications are that it will be a history-making gathering.

What will be done on the California-Stanford athletic ban raised against University of Southern California? That was the troublesome question mark of the entire session. California and Stanford have made it very plain they will schedule no more games with the Trojans but insist that the issue is a closed one as far as they are concerned.

But if U. S. C. forces the matter for official conference action—there's the rub! Anything can happen then. Indications are that U. S. C. will certainly want to clear itself after the athletic rupture in the south and W. J. Laporte, conference president, Coach Henderson and Graduate Manager Wilson will probably see to it that the Trojan side of the affair is aired.

Football Schedules
Rumor has it that Oregon, Washington and Washington State college are entirely in sympathy with Stanford and California and will not schedule football games with Southern California.

The future of the northwest conference will also be decided at this meeting. It is very likely that Washington, Oregon, O. A. C., Washington State and Idaho will continue in the conference with Gonzaga and Montana and let the smaller colleges of the northwest withdraw and form a separate body. Or the larger colleges may withdraw and adhere only to the Pacific coast conference.

Football schedules will be drawn up after faculty representatives

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Everybody interested in boxing out in California agrees that the Fred Fulton-Tony Fuente fiasco recently could not have come at a more propitious time to hurt the ten and twelve round fight game in the Golden state.

If this scandal is found not to have given the sport a body blow even before it had begun, it is a cinch that Fred Fulton and Fuente will not have the opportunity of making any money in California.

As a matter of fact the future of the fight game in California is just about as uncertain now as it was three weeks ago when news leaked out that Governor October 13, and the reception state executive of California, planned to appoint two clergymen and a Y. M. C. A. man, as members of the boxing commission.

This was Governor Richardson's intention and whether he will adhere to it or not, the fact remains that the commission he does appoint will consist of highly moral citizens.

Boxers who are planning to migrate to the west coast are advised to wait until the personnel of the commission is known, or else buy round trip tickets.

Living in a house numbered 13, a London miss had thirteen children attend her at her wedding on October 13, and the reception was held at 13 Mansfield street.

have threshed out conference business and eligibility rules. Oregon is anxious to schedule a game with California next year here with a return game at Berkeley in 1926. A Washington-Oregon agreement to alternate games between Seattle and Portland is also probable. Professor Kerr of the University of Utah will be here to present that university's application for conference admittance but there is little hope of Utah's being admitted.

Verbal Barrage

The "general discussion" of which Harridge spoke, saw Comiskey stand upon his feet for forty-five minutes and make his ancient foe, for and aft, with verbal canister. So, at any rate, say those whose words in these matters are above reproach. When he had finished, the resolution was passed. It was unanimous, according to Harridge. Later, Comiskey is reported to have made these remarks:

"Johnson called our esteemed leader, Landis, a 'crazy nut.' This man Johnson has done more to hurt the game in recent years than and other man. He should be kicked out right now."

Comiskey, it seems, was not wholly in accord with the resolution,

OLD ROMAN HANDS JOHNSON BARRAGE

Comiskey Lays Down Verbal Canister 45 Minutes At League Meet

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—According to William Harridge, official mouthpiece for the American league executive headquarters, "a general discussion of current affairs" preceded the adoption of the American league resolution commending the Landis regime at yesterday's meeting.

The resolution was a slap in Ban Johnson's executive face, but the Harridge statement made it appear that the blow was delivered with a velvet glove. My information is quite to the contrary. "Johnson should be kicked out of baseball."

This statement was credited to Charles Comiskey, Chicago owner and die-hard of the anti-Johnson clan, following the meeting, which is said to have been a most uncomfortable one for Ban. The old Roman delivered his blast in the presence of a few intimate friends, according to the good word emanating from the baseball belt late last night.

Ohio High School to Send Grid Team West

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—The Waite high school football eleven, high school champions of the United States, will play Lincoln high of Portland, Ore., in Portland, Dec. 20, Faculty Manager Fred Klan announced today. Twenty-five players will make the trip.

He had important business to transact, and part of it was to demand that Johnson prove his oft-repeated claim that he, Johnson, was responsible for the expansion of the 1919 world series scandal. It seemed to be Comiskey's idea that he, himself, had something to do with the exhuming of the diseased remains, and went on to tell Ban about it at great detail. Johnson, meantime, is said to have maintained a dignified silence.

A New Record Mt. Baldy in High Gear in 14 minutes 31.6 seconds with RICHFIELD & RICHLUBE!

DRIVING an absolutely stock model Cleveland Six touring car, carrying one passenger and officially timed and observed by representatives of the Los Angeles and Pomona newspapers; Ralph Mulford established a remarkable new record on December 3rd when he clipped over two minutes from the former record for this famous grade.

RICHFIELD Gasoline and Richlube Motor Oil were selected by Mulford and officials of the W. P. Herbert Company who stated that they more than fulfilled every expectation and deserved full credit for their share in this brilliant record.

YOU may not care to establish a new Mount Baldy record but you do want your motor to have the tremendous power and perfect lubrication for which this famous gasoline and oil are noted. Get it at any Richfield station—wherever you see the famous blue and gold shield.

Synthetic Gold Not to Affect Mined Metal

gold without noticeable effect on the monetary standard. Last year $51,000,000 worth of gold was produced in the United States and $60,000,000 worth used in manufacture and the arts, so that production has not hurt the money standard to any extent.

Gold in Existence

"The amount of gold mined and in existence is now valued at nine billion dollars. Two-thirds of this now is in the United States. So production of synthetic gold would have to reach entirely improbable proportions before it would affect our money standard. If it proves possible to make gold from mercury cheaper than it could be mined, there still is the problem of producing the mercury, and I do not believe enough of the latter could be made available to make a change to another standard than gold necessary."

"I have no suggestion as to what might be used as an alternative standard. In 30 years experience in gold mining, I have seen many proposals offered for making synthetic gold but I have yet to hear of anyone getting back what he invested."

Uncle Sam's Pledge

"There are reputable economists who declare a metal standard for monetization is unnecessary and that the pledge of the United States behind its paper currency is all that is necessary. I do not share this view, but as an alternative to gold I'd rather not venture a suggestion. We might take quicksilver if quicksilver is going to produce gold but that would make our money more elusive than it is now."

New York financiers pointed out today that the only danger in heavy production of synthetic gold lay in the fact of its being secret. If all financiers and nations knew it could be done and could count on that, the effect of such production would be discounted in advance, they said. Others pointed out that even if a change in monetary standard were necessary, it need not entail panic or disaster. The change was made from Indian wampum and ponies to the white man's greenbacks without difficulty.

The same is true of the beaver buttons of the Hudson's Bay company, each wooden disk representing a beaver skin which was a standard of value in the north for years. The demonetization of silver in this country in 1873 was accomplished without throwing the country into chaos.

Mining engineers pointed out that gold mining had been hurt rather than helped by the fact that its value was fixed and standardized. Other metals rise or fall with demand and with cost of production. Gold, however, can not rise with production costs and consequently it is less profitable to mine it now than even five years ago.

League Is Given Support In Item

ernments, although when projects have been developed they must go to the governments for their approval.

"These expert professional studies are going on in certain quarters and should have our constant encouragement and approval."

Coolidge Gets Support

The league council realized the truth of Mr. Coolidge's words about technical representatives of government so, in line with his ideas, the league who will be asked to draft the new code will not be representatives of governments, but a committee of specialists. This is exactly the way the constitution of the international court of justice was framed when Elihu Root was invited as a jurist and not as a representative of the American government to sit with jurists from other countries.

When, however, the committee concluded its investigations and recommended a definite protocol, the latter was submitted to the governments of the world for approval. So also may the recommendations of the international lawyers submitted to the different governments for ratification. The fact that the League of Nations took the initiative in summoning the conference complicates the problem no more than the action that has been taken in summoning an international opium conference or other humanitarian activities in which the United States has participated.

The making of a new code of international law is, in itself, one of the most vital steps toward preserving peace that has been needed since the last European war. On all sides there has been agreement to that effect but the process has lagged.

Hague Conferences

The first and second Hague conferences were designed to codify the rules of war which constitute the bulk of international law and the conference which resulted in what is known as the Declaration of London in 1909 was the last document on international law to come from a large gathering of important powers. The declaration was not ratified generally and those nations which did ratify it made important reservations so that when the war of 1914 broke out the belligerents were disposed at first to adhere but later disregarded some of the most important provisions in the code.

A code seemingly has been drawn which has been binding in the time of war and the jurists will have as their major problem the making of such rules as can be obeyed in war times. The jurists will have no difficulty but the experts in the armies and navies of the countries concerned usually bring pressure to bear to prevent ratification of any law which inhibits their effectiveness during war, while it is true that all nations are bound by the same rules, they sometimes operate to diminish the power of a maritime nation with a large navy more than they do other nations.

But it's a beginning and with the peace movement throughout the world growing stronger each year, the navalists and militarists will find it increasingly hard to stand in the way of a new code of international law.
